Furniture Factory and Carnival
Destroyed When Blaze Breaks Out

By Associated Press
Superior — A reign of fire raging here and at Lake Nebagamon for 12 hours Wednesday and early Thursday caused property damage of $105,000, nearly cost one man his life, injured several firemen and nearly destroyed a carnival showing in Superior and razed a portion of the business section of Lake Nebagamon. Loss of $100,000 resulted here early Wednesday evening when the plant of the Superior Wood Products Co., manufacturers of novelty furniture, was demolished by flames. Most of the damage is covered by insurance, according to Tur Swanson, president.

Origin of the fire is unknown. Roy Oakes and Ole Johnson, pipefitters, suffered injuries to ankle and back respectively, when a falling timber wrenched a hose nozzle from their grasp. Their hurts are painful but not serious. Explosions of paint and oil made it impossible to save the building.

For hundreds residents and campers at Lake Nebagamon, popular summer resort near Superior, fought for several hours Thursday morning the blaze which consumed the three adjacent frame structures there, occupied by the Bank of Lake Nebagamon, Croft pool hall and Delature Hardware store. Damage caused by the flames which started in the pool room totaled $4,000.

Golber Gilbertson was severely burned, but will recover, when, while having his truck filled at a Superior filling station Wednesday night, he used a lighted kerosene lantern to aid in ascertaining the amount of gas in the tank. The explosion which followed drenched his head, face and upper body in burning liquid.

The presence of mind of an employee saved the tented city of the Shesley shows, carnival attraction, from destruction Wednesday when an upset oil stove fuel the dry canvas of a "hot dog" tent. The carnival worker, whose name was not given, pulled down the tent and prevented the flames from spreading.

Twin Sisters Tell Story of Kidnapping While Riding With Male Escorts

By Associated Press
Milwaukee — Police are searching for three men who kidnapped two girls on a lonely road near Racine Wednesday night. One of the girls was in a serious condition Thursday as the result of her experience, while her twin sister, although not attacked, is suffering from nervousness.

The girls were riding with Erwin Nichols, 24 years old, and Herbert Brandt, 23 years old, in an automobile containing three men pulled up alongside and a pistol was pushed into Brandt's ribs. The robbers went through the men's clothes and obtained a small amount of money.

"You haven't much money, so we'll take the girls," the bandits said and forced Brandt to turn his machine about and drive away, under threat of shooting him.

According to the story told to the authorities by the girls, the band kept them until early in the day and then returned them to the city and left them in the vicinity of their home.

Shotgun In Boat Kills De Long Boy

John DeLong, 18-year-old adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron DeLong, formerly of Appleton, now of Townsend, was killed by the accidental discharge of a shotgun while in a boat fishing near Townsend late Tuesday afternoon.

The young man his brother Wayne and Victor Cole went to Wheeler pond, near Townsend, to fish about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, taking the shotgun with them. John announced his intention to row back alone after being there a short time.

His boat had gone only a short distance when the other two heard the report of the gun. They hurried to him and found that he had been shot in the abdomen. The manner in which the gun was discharged was not determined but it is believed that he moved in the boat and the trigger caught on an obstruction.

Parents of the boy were summoned and he was taken to a hospital where he died in his father's arms just when an operation was to be performed in an effort to save him.

The boy's funeral will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Charles DeLong at Shiocton, with the Rev. W. N. Conkle, pastor of the Congregational church, in charge. Burial will be made in Rexford cemetery.

The boy was born in Milwaukee Jan. 14, 1906, lived there one year and then was brought to Appleton by his parents, where he spent fourteen years. He is survived by his parents, two brothers, Benjamin, Wisconsin Rapids; Wayne, Townsend, Mr. and Mrs. DeLong left here about three years ago to reside at DePere and moved to Townsend about two months ago.

Argentine, France—Yale's unbeaten varsity crew won the Olympic championship regatta for the United States Thursday when the eight powerful Eli oarsmen swept to a brilliant victory by three and one-half lengths over Canada, with Italy third and with Great Britain, which had been expected to give the Americans their hardest fight, fourth and last.

Rowing with the same power and precision they had shown in most of their sensational victories in the United States, the Yale oarsmen, after a slow start, took the lead from the Italian crew at the 500-metre mark and raced their rivals out of sight over the last three quarters of the distance to lower their own record for the 2,000-metre course to 6 minutes 33.25 seconds, in spite of a brisk wind.

The French members also expressed their belief that the economic unity of Germany could not be restored until the proposed loan was underwritten.

The statement was made before the French officials entered a meeting of their committee which was formed by the conference to deal with the authority of the reparations commission in respect to the action to be taken in the event of possible default of Germany in the execution of the Dawes scheme.

Loeb and Leopold Intended to Conduct More "Experiments," Is Claim

Chicago — Had Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., escaped suspicion in the murder of 13-year-old Robert Franks, the two young intellectuals would have sought further thrills with the kidnapping and slaying of their own multi-millionaire fathers and of Thomas Loeb, 10, brother of Richard, according to Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel of Loeb and Leopold.

Disclosure of the almost unbelievable extremes to which the two confessed killers are said to have intended to go in their search for a real thrill is claimed to have had confirmation from attaches of the state's attorney's office. The authorities, according to men intimately associated with the prosecution, have been in possession of this information since the two boys, after an all night questioning in the office of the state's attorney, confessed one of the most astonishing crimes in the history of American jurisprudence.

With the same calm deliberation that attended their preparation for the abduction and murder of the Franks boy, Leopold and Loeb, according to Mr. Darrow, planned to carry out one of their horrible experiments in human emotions on Tommy Loeb a month or two after the Franks murder. Then, Mr. Darrow says, they planned to abduct and slay Albert H. Loeb, father of Richard who had been an invalid, and confined to his home for some time, and later they planned to kill Leopold's father.

According to information supplied by the man who will defend Loeb and Leopold in their trial for murder, the charge upon which they will be tried represents but the first of four murders which were planned simultaneously, to be perpetrated in a regular sequence.

Disappearance of Major MacLeary Is Solved When One of Two Slayings Confesses

By Associated Press
Raleigh, N. C. — The body believed to be that of Major Samuel H. McLeary whom Mortimer King of Canton is alleged to have confessed he killed, was found eleven miles north of Corvaca, S. C., at 11:30 Thursday morning by a searching party, according to an army officer, who notified the Associated Press correspondent at Raleigh. The body was badly mangled, having been eaten by ants. Practically nothing was left of the body but bones. No clothing was found.

Raleigh, N. C. — Major Samuel H. McLeary, Coast Artillery corps, whose mysterious disappearance on July 2 baffled "government" agents; officials of three states and members of his family for two weeks, was slain by two men whom he "picked up" while enroute in his automobile from Norfolk Va., to a new post of duty at Fort Moultrie, S. C.

This was admitted by one of the assassins, Mortimer H. King a deserter from both the army and marine corps, who confessed Wednesday night authorities conducting a search for the missing officer at Canton, near Asheville, N. C., said. King said he and a companion shot and killed Major McLeary to rob him and obtain his automobile.

Early Thursday a squad of United States Department of Justice agents, army officers and Canton civil authorities were speeding in an automobile with the prisoner toward Cheraw, S. C., near the North Carolina line, ten miles from where King said in his confession the officer's body was hidden in a pile of brush near the roadside.

Cheraw, S. C. — Chief of police W. H. Jacobs, Cheraw, stated early Thursday that he had received a telegram to the effect that a party of officers would arrive here on a train from the north shortly before 10 o'clock bringing with them one of the alleged slayers of Major Samuel H. McLeary whose body was said to have been hidden near here, according to a confession made Wednesday night.

The party will be conducted by their prisoner, whose identity was not given, to the spot where the major's body lies buried on a lonely road about ten miles from here, the message added.

Major McLeary was slain by Mortimer H. King, a farmer who lived near Canton, according to his statement to the authorities on the afternoon of July 2, when the major, after leaving Raleigh, N. C., for Columbus, S. C., was enroute to Fort Moultrie, S. C.

Davis Faces Serious Problem In Building Democratic Machine

Wilson's Dictatorship Abolished Party Organization Since
Election in 1912, and Change
Is in Prospect.

By ROBERT T. SMALL
Special Correspondent
Copyright 1924 by The Post, Pub. Co.
New York — The Democrats have undertaken the building of a national political machine for the first time since 1912. With the exception of the control exercised over it by Woodrow Wilson, the party has had no organization for the past 12 years. Nominally there has been a national committee, but it has seldom functioned. In the campaign of four years ago it was virtually of no aid whatever to the presidential candidate, James M. Cox. It seemed lacking in financial and all other resources. Governor Cox fought that battle of 1920 practically alone. Wherever he went—and he traversed the country from one end to the other—the members of his party were astounded at the complete lack of direction in Democratic affairs.

This year it is claimed all this is going to be changed. The breakdown in 1920 was ascribed largely to the lack of funds. The Democrats were penniless at the start of the campaign and in debt at the finish. The breakdown also was attributed in some quarters to the fact that the Democrats had for eight years placed their destiny completely in the hands of one man—President Wilson. Mr. Wilson never was much of a believer in party organizations as such and he did little or nothing to keep the national Democratic machine intact. Democrats generally were willing to accept Mr. Wilson as their dictator. Then came his collapse and for the campaign of four years ago organization was all but completely lacking.

TASK IS ENORMOUS
The task of building before the Democrats is an enormous one and that is why John W. Davis, the candidate, is thinking of advising a change in the Democratic form of organization. He realizes the burden will be too heavy for one man. There are too much groups to cover. Therefore, in addition to the national chairman, yet to be chosen, there will be a sort of board of directors in touch with headquarters, with regional directors scattered throughout the country.

The Republicans adopted this form of organization in 1920 but are generally discarding it as unnecessary this year. Under the regional plan, one man has general supervision of the campaign in five or six adjacent states. Some of the Republican "best minds" were not satisfied with the scheme and felt that better results would be obtained by leaving each state organization supreme in its own territory and subject only to the general "advice and consent" of the national committee and the candidate.

There is so much work to be done by the Democrats, however, that it is felt regional assistance not only is needed, but will be welcomed by the sagging state machines.

Mr. Davis is going to call upon the "very best minds" of the party in each state. He has been promised cooperation all along the line. Prominent men, like Governor Cox in Ohio, are to be asked to lend a hand at the wheel and under their influence it is believed the state organizations can be revived for national duty.

Democrats are to be urged everywhere to put forth their best men for office this year so that the national ticket may have the benefit of every favorable local influence.

DEMANDS FOR ALIMONY DELAY DUKE'S DIVORCE

By Associated Press
Paris — Separation instead of divorce may be the outcome of the duke of Westminster's latest romance, according to Wednesday night's tidings from the divorce front.

It is understood that the duchess has been asking for an income of £20,000 ($100,000) free from income tax, while he has been offering her £14,000, taxed, which would give her only about £9,000 clear.

The divorce papers were ordered held up Wednesday which seems to indicate that the duke has capitulated in the face of the mass of evidence which the duchess is declared to have accumulated.

The bills charge assault and slander.

Wisconsin Senator Respects Advice of Aides to Make Haste Slowly

Washington, D. C. — Advisers of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin are urging him not to be in a hurry to launch his active campaign for the presidency. Speech making during the next few weeks would be wasted, they argue, urging that the senator do little campaigning until September and then begin an intensive fight for votes, carrying it through to a whirlwind finish just before election day.

While no definite decision has been made, Senator La Follette apparently is of the same mind as his lieutenants. The next three or four weeks he believes should be devoted to the non-spectacular task of building up a nationwide organization and getting the La Follette ticket on the ballot in every state.

The senator has declined an invitation to address his followers here before the end of the month and those helping on campaign arrangements say there probably will be no stumping before September. Meanwhile, however, he may do some broadcasting by radio, which will be used extensively in the interests of his campaign after he goes to his home in Madison.

Most pressing of the problems confronting La Follette and his political aides is the selection of a vice presidential candidate. This will be done after consultation with the senator by the national committee of the conference for Progressive Political Action at a meeting here Friday and Saturday.

A dozen or more names have been proposed by the various committee members. These included Senator Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, but he announced Wednesday he would not accept an endorsement if tendered him.

EKERN SLIGHTS OWN

Madison — Attorney General Herman L. Ekern left Madison early Thursday for Washington where Friday he will take part in the conference to outline plans for Senator Robert M. LaFollette's campaign for president.

Mr. Ekern will take an active part in the campaign, he stated, probably devoting most of his time to the national contest rather than his own campaign for reelection as attorney general. It is expected that Mr. Ekern will be in the Wisconsin campaign but little. He declined to make any comment as to Senator LaFollette's running mate.

MACLAREN, ON WORLD FLIGHT, LOST IN JAPAN

British Aviator Has Not Been Heard from Since Leaving
Lake Toshimoye

PARTY BELIEVED TO BE SAFE
Should Have Completed 450-Mile Flight By Noon Wednesday
in Normal Journey

Tokio — Although there has been no news received here up to Thursday afternoon of Stuart MacLaren and his party of British aviators flying around the world, since they left Lake Toshimoye on Teteforu where they landed at an early hour Wednesday morning, no anxiety is felt here as yet for their safety.

MacLaren should have completed a flight to Para, Mashuru island, about 450 miles north of his starting place, by noon Wednesday. However, it is believed likely that he landed at some intermediate point in the Kuriles, far from radio or other communication with the outside world. Broughton bay, Shimushu island, where the advance party for his flight laid down a fuel and supply base, is believed the most probable point of his landing. The latest report on the weather in the Kuriles where the American fliers were delayed by storms and fog, said it was cloudy but that there was no wind, which circumstances is regarded as favorable to the fliers' safety.

SEARCH FAILS
MacLaren left Koshimoye, Teteforu island, early Wednesday and was scheduled to arrive at Paramushiro, 450 miles to the north and east, by noon.

When he failed to arrive doubts were expressed as to his safety, and the Japanese government immediately dispatched a destroyer to search for him.

Excellent flying weather was reported from Toshimoye when he hopped off from that village. His flight lay over numerous rugged isles of the Kurile chain. Most of them are uninhabited and it is possible, say those familiar with that region, that MacLaren has been forced to descend upon one of these islands.

A. S. MacLaren, accompanied by two other British aviators, began his round-the-world flight from Calshot, England. Three accidents have delayed them on the trip. They were held up at Corfu, while awaiting a new engine, and again at Paris, India, where they were brought down by a broken crank case. Their plane crashed at Akayab, Burma; and again the aviators were delayed.

After leaving Akayab, MacLaren made good time to Japan, whence he took the route of the American fliers across the Kuriles.

CITY LICENSES
ADD $1,500 TO
CITY TREASURY

July Is Month for Renewal of Business and Amusement Permits

Licenses of all kinds are being renewed by E. L. Williams, the city clerk, during this month. The total amount of fees for licenses, including those for soft drink establishments, is estimated to be under $1,500. This is far less than in the pre-prohibition days when 100 saloons were paying an annual license of $500 a year each.
The licenses for soft drink parlors have been renewed with a few exceptions. A $5 license is charged to all those who sell cigarettes, milk dealers must pay a license of $1 if they deliver milk on foot, $2 if it is sold in a store and $5 if delivered from a waggon. There is a license of $3 for each bowling alley in the city and of $3 for each pool and billiard table. The business pay $25 for the privilege of running in and out of Appleton.
Each taxi company pays a license of $25 for its first taxi and an additional $1 for each additional taxi. The theatre licenses are $50. The junk dealers pay $15 each while bill posters and sign writers must pay from $3 up, according to the number of signs which they use. Walk builders pay $5, as do scavengers and sewer diggers. The fee for peddlers is from $20 to $15 a year.
In addition to these, there are the licenses for each dance, wrestling match and boxing bout. Circuses and other traveling amusements pay a fee for each day. Carnivals are not allowed to come to Appleton, but formerly they were charged a license fee.

10 Million
Bags Of Java
Used In Year

Coffee consumption in the United States for the crop year, July 1, 1923, to June 30, 1924, has reached the highest total on record—10,755,050, bags as compared with 9,660,641 bags for the preceding twelve months, an increase of 1,094,409 bags. Estimated in pounds instead of bags, these figures become 1,463,372,225 pounds as compared to 1,227,586,950 pounds for the previous crop year.
Excluding what coffee may have been taken from American warehouses for re-exportation, the per capita consumption therefore would be 13.30 pounds. As the per capita consumption in this country for the crop year 1922-23 was 11.63 pounds it is evident that the beverage is showing a steady growth in popularity. The new consumption figure shows an increase of 14.3 per cent over the preceding crop year.
This growth in coffee drinking is more striking in view of the steady increase in the price of coffee since the beginning of the year. Damage to stocks in storage and to the new crop prospect in Brazil, from where this country gets seventy per cent of its coffee has brought about a scarcity in the world's visible supply.
This is evidenced by the increasing premium which Americans are paying for the better grades.

QUAKE BELT OF JAPAN
EXTENDS TO MANILA

Manila.—That Manila may at almost any time be visited by an earthquake such as destroyed Yokohama last September is the warning given by Father Roque Ruano, professor of physics and engineering in the University of Santo Tomas, who has just returned from a visit of several months in Japan where he studied the effect of earthquake in that country.
"The Philippines lie in the same seismic zone as does the earthquake region of Japan, and conditions in Manila are analogous in many respects to those found in Yokohama," said Father Ruano. "The same sub-soil that is found in Yokohama," is found here and building construction is practically identical.
The professor recommends that a committee of geologists and scientists be appointed to study the earthquake regions of the Philippines and make a report in order to impress upon the people the necessity of preparing, as far as possible, for a severe quake at any time.

AUG. 6 NEW DATE
FOR GREATER STATE
GATHERING HERE

Change Is Made from July 30 to

Facilities

Aug. 6 will be the date of the big gathering here to organize the Greater Wisconsin association instead of July 30, according to plans announced to the chamber of commerce by Milwaukee Association of Commerce.
The change was made because of the presence in Appleton at the old date of the state undertakers' convention and the consequent inability to arrange for enough hotel facilities.
Another week added to the interim period was welcomed by the committee in charge of the gathering, because it gives more time to complete the arrangements and may mean a larger attendance.
Representatives of organizations of all kinds from the entire state will be here to help launch the Greater Wis-

WANT EXPORTERS
TO HEAR OF FLEET

Manufacturers of the Fox river valley will be invited to a meeting soon to hear talks by promoters of the Emergency Fleet corporation following arrangements made with the chamber of commerce Wednesday by T. Park Hay of Chicago, with the assistance of G. W. Jones, president of Jones Lumber company.
Mr. Hay is Chicago manager for the United States shipping board, which operates the government's freight and passenger vessels built in wartime, under the name of the Emergency Fleet corporation. His mission is to interest manufacturers in the service of the fleet for export purposes.
F. L. Roberts of Chicago, district manager of the United States bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, will be a speaker at the meeting as will Mr. Hay.
No date has been set but the gathering probably will be early in September, when the vacation season is over.

CORK MAKERS WANT MARKS
ON ALL IMPORTED CORKS

By Associated Press
Washington.—The provision of the tariff law required that all imported commodities bear the name of the country of origin, is presenting knotty problems to the customs service, the latest of which has been brought forward by domestic manufacturers of corks, or plain bottle stoppers.
Certain home manufacturers have filed a complaint that foreign corks are not properly marked, and so for two weeks there have been hearings and legal arguments and much looking up of law and precedent. The claim was made that each and every cork must be labelled, and the treasury doesn't know what to do, for it doesn't see any way in which an individual cork can be identified.
Blondes of Sweden prefer to eat light colored syrups while people of darker complexions favor sweets of more somber tints.

From Los Angeles
to Bangor

Swift's Premium Brand, with its reputation for uniform goodness, is of long standing. It has behind it more than thirty years of leadership in scientific curing and smoking.
As early as 1889, Swift & Company's products had received highest awards at international expositions. One of the four medals awarded at the Paris Exposition of 1889 was for Premium smoked meats, and another was for "Silverleaf" Brand Pure Lard.
Premium Hams and Bacon were acknowledged the best then. They are better today. Laboratory control, constant, steady experiments, more careful selection, and painstaking care assure you of better meat with unfailing regularity.
Premium Hams are uniformly mild and delicious whether purchased in Los Angeles, in Bangor, or in Miami.
The pre-eminent position of Swift's Premium Hams and Bacon is indicative of the development of the packing industry—to which Swift & Company has contributed no small part in carrying to the table of the millions "More Meat and Better Meat."
This service is performed at a profit from all sources averaging only a fraction of a cent per pound.

Album Leaf—Romance (Albion) (Wagner-Wilhelms) Polka Solo	Mischa Elman	6457-2.00
The Gondolier's Song—Gondoliera (Rio)	Mischa Elman
Wagner's lovely "Album Leaf," in Wilhelm's arrangement for the violin, coupled with Rie's "Gondoliera," and played with consummate skill and beauty by a great artist. Records that speak volumes for the fidelity of Victor recording.
Lucrezia Borgia—Vieni la mia vendetta (Hate Thine, for Vengeance) (Donizetti) In Italian	José Mardonec	6456-2.00
Pipelle—Questa notte mentre a letto (At Night While Sleeping) (De Ferrari) In Italian	José Mardonec
Two bass numbers from Italian operas, one tragic, one comic, by this very great artist. They are sung with true splendor of style, by a voice that has known few rivals. If you never have heard a great bass operatic record, here is a sur- prise for you.

Light Vocal Selections

Love's First Kiss Out of the Dusk to You	Della Baker Della Baker	19335 .75
Love-songs in semi-popular style; neither commonplace nor obscure, but impassioned and beautiful. Sung with in- tensely living sympathy. Both are by women composers. Emotion is written, composed and sung into them—and per- fectly recorded by the Victor process.
Just for Remembrance Just Some Roses	Elliott Shaw Lewis James	19358 .75
Two charming numbers sung with a robustness of sentiment that is refreshing. The second has a fascinating interlude in which violin and cello are most prominent. The Victor kind of semi-popular records that every one enjoys.
Hard Times Mamie	Eddie Hunter Eddie Hunter	19359 .75
New song-records by this famous colored specialist in human tribulation. "Hard Times" and his troubles with "Mamie" between them make an unusual offering. Eddie Hunter can put a lot of humor into a song, and these records present his songs just as he sings them.

Melodious Instrumental

On the Mall—March The Pioneer—March	The Goldman Band The Goldman Band	19363 .75
Two brilliant, cleanly played marches for the brass band. Both are compositions of the conductor's. The first one, with special whistling features by Carson Robinson, is dedicated to the Goldman Band's immense audiences in Central Park, New York. These records will give delight to still greater audiences.
That's the Tune—Fox Trot (from the New Century Revue "Vogues") Tropical Palms—Fox Trot	Charles Dornberger and His Orchestra	19360 .75
A highly melodious fox trot from the New Century Revue, and a soft, dreamy, languorous one from Russian-Oriental melodies. Both are finely played and easily danced to as presented on these records.
Lonely Little Wallflower—Fox Trot Worryn' Blues—Fox Trot	The Benson Orchestra of Chicago Philip Spitalny and His Orch.	19361 .75
Here is a pleasing combination of fox trots. The first num- ber is gentle and melodious, while its companion is of the comic order. Both are up-to-the-moment in style. Superbly recorded numbers that will meet the approval of dancers everywhere.

MOTHER CHARGES DEFECT IN ROAD KILLED HER SON

Mrs. John Van Schindel Sues Outagamie-co for $15,000

Mrs. John VanSchindel of Little Chute has started a suit to recover $15,000 from Outagamie-co for the death of her son, Joseph Van Schindel, who was killed July 24, 1922, in an automobile accident on highway 15. The suit is based on an alleged defect in the highway.

The accident occurred between Kimberly and Little Chute east of where the Inter-lan track intersects highway 15 and immediately west of Peerenboom creek. It is alleged Van Schindel was riding in a Ford sedan owned by himself and driven by Arnold Hietpas.

The claim charges that another car crowded VanSchindel's car from the concrete portion of the road and it was necessary for the driver to run along the edge of the concrete for some distance because he was unable to steer the car back on the concrete owing to the difference in the height of the shoulder of dirt and the top of the concrete.

While the car was so being driven along the shoulder of dirt, the front wheels were thrown into a rut of such depth and width as to throw the car out of the control of the driver and cause it to strike a pole near the highway, fatally injuring VanSchindel.

102 COWS QUALIFY IN 40-POUND CLASS

Many High Producers In Dale-Hortonville Testing Association

One hundred two cows in the Dale-Hortonville Cow Testing association produced more than 40 pounds of butter fat during the month of June according to the report made by Clement Rickaby, the official tester. The high herd average was made by cows belonging to M. Bottrel. They averaged 1,200 pounds of milk and 39.49 pounds of butterfat.

Betsy, a registered Holstein, belonging to Herman Stichman, made the best record for an individual cow. She gave 1,986 pounds of milk which contained 73.4 pounds of butterfat. Cow No. 1 in the herd of Hugo Tolzman gave a better percentage of butterfat. Out of 1,185 pounds of butter, she yielded 61.6 pounds of butterfat, while No. 11 in the same herd produced 67.3 pounds of butterfat in 1,324 pounds of milk. Both are grade Guernseys.

MAHLON HAMILTON AND STRONG CAST WITH BLANCHE SWEET

In "That Girl Montana," the Jesse D. Hampton-Pathe feature at the New Bijou Theatre Friday and Saturday, Blanche Sweet is given the support of an unusually strong cast. Mahlon Hamilton, who played opposite the beautiful blonde star in "The Deadlier Sex," and who was the star of "Half a Chance" and "Earthbound," plays the part of a young prospector.

Frank Lanning and Edward Pell, character actors frequently seen in Pathe features, Mr. Pell's recent work as the Hatchetman in "The Money-Changers" having been particularly noteworthy, play the leading heavy roles.

Kate Price, as Mrs. Hazard, who ran a boarding house that only dyspeptics passed by without stopping, has a part made for her. Clare DuBrey, famed for her adventures types, is the dance hall girl.

An outdoor story, adapted from Marah Ellis Ryan's novel, "That Girl Montana," presents Miss Sweet as an adventuresome, courageous child of Nature. Robert Thornby has given it the careful direction that made his "Half a Chance" a masterpiece.

GOVERNMENT AID

No private citizen is performing more intelligent public service than Robert E. Lee Shaner, of Dallas, Tex., President of the American Bar association. "There are now pending in congress," Mr. Shaner said at the association's annual convention in Philadelphia, "nearly one hundred proposals to amend the constitution, practically all of them conceived, fostered and urged by highly organized bureaus or associations. Virtually all of them strike at the fundamental principles of our government, and many of them are fostered by the selfish interests of minority factions for purposes purely selfish. The insistent demand of this paternalistic movement is for creating new bureaus, and departments and offices, vastly increasing the number of federal employees, with a relative increase in the cost of government. The tendencies would, if unrestrained by the supreme court, speedily wipe out state lines, and our government would degenerate into a paternal, sumptuary bureaucracy government, directing and controlling every activity of its citizens, even in the method and manner of our living."

We are passing through a crisis in the preservation of our form of government. We are attempting to afford protection, to give privileges, to regulate, to reform, by legislation and supervision, instead of by public opinion. We are encroaching more and more on personal liberty. We have been steadily building up a bureaucracy that interferes with every activity and that is a huge burden of taxation.

The theory that the people, or a class of people, have a right to look to the state to make them prosperous is being worked overtime. Any number of politicians are popularizing themselves by making false and impossible promises of solving purely economic problems by legislative paternalism in one form or another. One reason why more substantial progress has not been made in improving the condition of agriculture is because too many farmers have been led to blindly look to politicians and government to give them relief and prosperity, whereas the real remedy lay in the application of sound business principles to their industry, especially in a collective sense. Today office seekers are before the voters on a platform that proposes artificial assistance to farmers, which cannot possibly aid them permanently.

One of the great misfortunes of our political system is that it has been used, or rather abused, to do for the individual and business what they ought to do for themselves. No really successful business in this country, if we exclude exploiters and profiteers, wants any assistance from the government. It mostly wishes to be left alone, to enjoy the opportunity to conduct its affairs honestly, efficiently and in accordance with the natural laws of commerce and industry. To supplant this functioning of business with political aid is merely to create dependence, irresolution, incompetency and extravagance. A hundred successful business men would do more, in the way of advice and direction, to put agriculture on a sound and profitable basis than could 10,000 politicians, and all the government in creation. The right co-operation between the farmers and business men is the great need of agriculture, and not legislative panaceas.

BUT ONE COURSE OPEN

The allied conference on reparations has assembled at London. It is a momentous gathering, principally for the reason that it results from proposals to settle this vexatious peace difficulty evolved by the United States and secondarily because of official representatives of the United States are sitting in at the conference. While ardently disclaiming a purpose to act as arbiter of European affairs, or to accept responsibilities in connection with the peace settlement, we are nevertheless acting in both capacities. Preceding the conference, Secretary Hughes explicitly announced that the United States supported the Dawes commission findings and recommendations in their entirety. We, therefore, go to the meeting definitely committed to a certain solution.

There is only one thing the American representatives are forbidden to discuss and that is the question of inter-allied debts. It appears likely that France will endeavor to base her acceptance of the Dawes plan on debt cancellation, but in this she will not be successful. What the United States supports or proposes at the conference is likely to prevail. Every participant in this gathering goes to London with the foreknowledge that the Dawes commission proposed the one and only acceptable basis for adjusting reparations. We have maintained all along that there was no other course open to France, Germany and Great Britain but to accept the plan outlined by the Americans. If we discard it, nothing but chaos remains. No agreement could have been reached between the parties themselves. It required the intervention of a disinterested party like the United States, to say who should make concessions and who should undertake positive performances, in order to carry out the logical consequences of the war for the best interests of all concerned.

We think there is nothing else left for Europe to do but to approve the American plan, and that this is what will be done at London. There will be many schemes suggested for essentially modifying the plan, and some for discarding it altogether, but they are not likely to control.

A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION

A charter has been granted by the state of Illinois to an organization designed to bring about effective agricultural cooperation on a large scale. It is known as the Grain Marketing company, and is capitalized at $26,000,000. It is announced that it will begin immediate operation and will start to handle the grain crops that are now coming to market. The corporation will control elevators at Chicago and other grain centers with a capacity of 50,000,000 bushels.

A statement issued by the organizers declares that the Grain Marketing company has "constituted itself as the 'big brother' of all cooperative elevators, of which there are 5,000 scattered throughout the country. The company also will be at the service of any other farm organization, pools, etc., besides the individual farmer." To finance the plan, stock will be offered for sale to the farmers. In fact, it must be financed and controlled by farm producers, and will conform with the requirements of the Capper-Volstead act.

No one can, of course, vouch for the success or the result of this extensive move in the direction of cooperative marketing. This will depend upon the capacity of the organizers, and upon the business prudence with which its affairs are conducted. This much may be said, however, that in method it is a step in the right direction. There is no branch of agriculture so extensive that it cannot be organized, standardized and its products marketed under legitimate control. This is what the Grain Marketing company proposes to do, and its venture will be watched with the greatest interest throughout the country.

SURVIVAL OF THE WEAK

A correspondent asks: "Do you think it possible for people with impaired health to attain longevity?"

The answer to that is the answer to another question—Is life worth living? Some one back in the good old almanac days said it depends on the liver.

Remember the case of our old friend George. George was practically a goner at 30, weighing more than 32 stone (stones averaging 14 pounds), lethargic, listless, short of breath—but a whale of an appetite, which, according to the modern Yankee notion would make him a healthy man. George reformed about that time, began to practice temperance in eating and to indulge in exercise. He reduced to 150 pounds, regained his strength and lived to the age of 72 years, which was a remarkable old age in George's day, 1871 to 1943. Then still farther back Chigi Cornaro was a broken man at 40, from wrong living, and he, too, asked himself whether it paid to live one's life so fast; he changed his habits and lived to be more than a century old, which was a wonderful accomplishment 400 years ago. Cornaro's essay on "The Art of Living Long" is still a valuable health book in any library. George Cheyne's essay on long life, being more recent, is rarely to be found in libraries, but is a mine of encouragement and optimism and good sense for everybody concerned about the relation of life to longevity.

Our own great American, Theodore Roosevelt, was frail in his early youth and might have matched the years of the benevolent Chauncey Depew but for an accident of infection.

Horace Fletcher at 40 was rejected as a bad risk for life insurance. He took thought, mended his ways of living, and at 60 without training demonstrated at Yale that he had greater physical endurance than the best athletes. Fletcher's "A-B-Z of My Own Nutrition," contains much good hygiene along with a dash of good sense when he carries his theory to the extreme of absurdity, advising that all undissolved food be ejected from the mouth.

These are a few conspicuous examples. Nowadays it almost seems that impaired health in early life conduces to longevity, for when health is too good in early life we are apt to ignore or scout the teachings of hygiene and consequently fall into many errors of living which bring upon us premature "breakdown." The most eager and tractable student of hygiene is the valetudinarian. He is open to suggestion. The trouble is that in the past the suggestion has too often been bad. Nothing can be more harmful than the nefarious business of equipping the layman with the symptoms or tangles of real or imaginary illness—as a notorious example, however, it is certainly wholesome to appeal to the layman's interest in his health, to remind him perhaps how he is just drifting along in the 70 per cent health class although he may if he will advance to a higher class by means of better hygiene. This is the ultimate aim of the present movement to popularize periodic health examination—it gives the ordinary individual a chance to get advice about his hygiene, his health, his mode of life, good sound advice, without being "sick enough to have the doctor."

Hey Bob, Here's Another Vote for You
Dear Rollo—I haven't made up my mind who will get my vote next November but if any candidate will tell me how to have peace when my kids want my glasses, pencils and newspaper; my wife wants a bucket of water and the lawn mowed and my creditors want satisfaction, I will guarantee to throw him the votes of all the married men in Appleton.

Science Can't Solve Cause Of Headaches

(From The Youth's Companion.)
Headache is one of the most common ills of civilized life; yet it is in a sense a mystery, which throughout the centuries doctors have failed to solve. Many of the causes of headache have been discovered, and it is comparatively easy to arrest the pain by means of drugs, but just what headache is and how the various causes act to produce it are puzzling questions.

It has been held that headache is always the result either of congestion or of an increase of cerebrospinal fluid exerting pressure upon the brain. But the anemic often suffers with headache, and when surgeons tap the canal in the spinal cord and remove much of the cerebrospinal fluid, thus reducing the pressure in the brain, severe headache may ensue nevertheless. The most common cause of periodical or almost daily headache is eyestrain, but it is by no means the only cause. One form of headache caused by eyestrain comes on in the evening, persists through the night and disappears in the morning. In other instances the attacks come on at irregular intervals and are then often exceedingly severe. In those instances the patients are resistant to headache, and it is only when evil influences of the eyestrain have been acting for some time that their accumulated force breaks down the nervous resistance to the sufferer. The attacks are much like migraine, but they are not that, for they all cease when the eyes are properly fitted with glasses, which is believed to be a condition allied to epilepsy. Another common cause of headache is intranasal disease, or sinus disease. Trouble in the ear or in the throat may also, though less frequently, excite headache. A disordered stomach, so-called biliousness, is another cause; other causes are constipation and kidney trouble.

Headache is a prominent symptom at the beginning of all the infectious fevers and also in meningitis and brain tumors. A severe headache of tenishers in an attack of apoplexy. Workers in artificial light often suffer from the actinic rays, and the same cause is active in the headache produced by reflection of the sun from water or from snow. Such cases may be relieved by wearing glasses made of Crookes glass. Finally, headache is an almost constant symptom in neurasthenia.

T. B. Patients Quack Victims

(From The Wisconsin Medical Journal.)

Only one safe and authentic method of curing tuberculosis is acknowledged by the medical profession today. That method consists of giving the patient rest, fresh air and nourishing food under the constant supervision of a competent physician who knows tuberculosis. Any other "cures" whether they come out of bottles sold at the drug store or are administered in other ways by quacks or even occasionally licensed but unscrupulous medical men, are dangerous. They but lead to progression of the disease and often to death.

The danger of tuberculosis cures is perhaps greater than of any of the

Artists In Recital At Jones' Home

Mrs. Selma Gogg and George E. Hurt Presented in Pleasing Program

One of the most charming affairs of the season was the musicale which G. W. Jones and Miss Cora Sackett gave for the Wednesday Musicale at Jones' home 675 Park-ave, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Selma Gogg, Chicago, vocalist, accompanied by Miss Margaret Engler, gave a program made up of a delightful mixture of pathetic and gay songs. The abandon of Mrs. Gogg and her artistic interpretations of the nuances of feeling in her selections made the ensemble especially delightful. George E. Hurt, violinist, played the obligato in several of the numbers, two of which were his own. Those which he himself composed were "A Little Serenade" and "Love in the Fire." Mr. Hurt also played two solos, "Rondino" by Beethoven and "Paradise" by Fritz Kreisler. Mrs. Gogg's program was:

- "Yesterday and Today".....Spross
- "The Birth of Morn".....Leoni
- "Tally-ho".....Leoni
- "The Heart of a Rose".....Warren
- "Invocation to Eros".....Krusteiner
- "Child's Prayer".....Harold
- "The Bitterness of Love".....Dunn
- "The Wind's in the South".....Scott

Girls Told Not To Take Sea Chests

The day for girl scouts and camp-fire girls departure for camp at Onaway island, Waupaca, is drawing near, so the question that is uppermost in the mind of the campers at present is luggage. The recreation department has requested that the girls do not take scout sea chest with them, but use suitcases or blanket rolls. The reason for this is that the sea chests are too large to carry in busses or in autos. Girls who do not have telephones are urged to stop at the clubhouse to find out particulars of the trip. The first group will leave at 8:30 Saturday morning, but the girls will meet at the clubhouse at 8:15 so that luggage may be taken care of properly. The next group will leave at 11 o'clock and these girls also are expected to meet at the clubhouse 15 minutes before the bus leaves. The remainder of the girls will go down in private cars.

GERMANY REGAINS SEVENTH PLACE IN WORLD'S SHIPPING

Despite War Losses Industrious Nation Makes Big Strides in Commerce

By Associated Press. Hamburg. Germany.—German shipping claims to be fighting against tremendous odds in its attempt to regain its place in the sun. The loss of 90 percent of the German commercial fleet through the war and the terms of surrender means that German ship owners practically have had to start anew. By taking up loans buying back some of the ships delivered to the Entente victors under the Treaty of Versailles, and refraining from paying dividends in recent years, the shipping concerns of Germany have gradually worked up a post-war tonnage of 2,500,000 gross register tons, which is about one-half the German pre-war tonnage, and which comprises 4 percent of the total world's tonnage as compared with 11 percent in 1914. From the eleventh place in 1920 among the shipping nations of the world, Germany has moved to seventh place by 1924, as compared with second place in 1914.

Cout Siegfried Roerdern, chairman of the League of German Ship Owners and Freighters, in a prepared statement replying to specific questions, gave the following picture of shipping conditions: "In 1914 the German merchant marine occupied second place among the merchant fleets of the world as far as actual tonnage was concerned. It then comprised 5,200,000 gross register tons and was surpassed only by Great Britain.

"In the course of the war Germany lost about half of her ships through seizure, sinking, etc. Next, in accordance with the terms of the Versailles Treaty, she had to give up approximately the second half. Included among the vessels that had to be turned over to the victors were all the larger passenger boats. The Germans were permitted to retain only the ships under 1,000 tons and one-half the vessels between 1,000 and 1,600 tons. By the peace treaty and the German legislation resulting therefrom German shipping was compelled to pay a part of the war bill immediately in kind, by giving up not only the ships already in the service, but also those under construction.

"It was the sense of the Treaty of Versailles that this delivery by private capital was to be regarded as a payment on account by the German Empire and hence to be refunded to the individual concerns by the German state. The financial condition of the Reich made complete indemnification impossible. An agreement was therefore reached between the government and the ship owners, by which the latter were to receive an amount sufficient to rebuild but one-third of their pre-war tonnage. Because of the inflation of the last years the indemnity payments of the government did not suffice to rebuild the third of the old tonnage agreed upon. Besides, in distributing the government indemnity, the small ship owners were to be given the preference, so that most of the larger concerns were able to finance a replacement program of but 20 percent of the pre-war tonnage out of the funds furnished by the government. The fact that the larger concerns nevertheless

Desire For Gun Made Boy Of 12 Commit Theft

Temptation fell in the way of a boy of 12 years, and that is how the revolver was stolen from Appleton Army store, 853 College-ave, according to facts learned by the police department. The boy was caught, ordered to return the gun and was turned over to his parents after a severe reprimand by the police and a 4-hour cell confinement.

William Grimm, a youth of about 16 living at 734 Circle-st, was the one who solved the theft for the police and identified the boy who stole the gun. It had passed through the hands of two youngsters and was given to Grimm. He read an article in the Post-Crescent concerning the stolen revolver and as the one given him was new he began inquiry.

Obtaining a confession from the less rebuilt on an average one-third of their old tonnage, is due solely to their watering their stock and as summing new debts."

Runaway Boy And Girl WILL RETURN TO HOMES

Both of the runaway persons in custody of the police department soon will be back in their respective homes. A welfare worker is on her way here from Milwaukee to take charge of Gertrude Birmingham, 15, who left her stepfather there and was found in a home in the Fourth ward. George Engel, 16, of Chicago, will make his own way back home. His mother telegraphed the police that she is sending a railroad ticket for his return.

64TH BRIGADE IN FIRST REVIEW IS PRONOUNCED O. K.

Milwaukee Man Detailed to Drill Rifle Team for Camp Perry Match

Camp Douglas, Wis. — Wisconsin national guardsmen are swinging into the grist of severe training this week under the direction of trained army instructors, according to officials of the first national guard encampment now in progress here.

The drill training has advanced to the point where Thursday the first full review of the Sixty Fourth Infantry Brigade, commanded by Brig. General McCoy, was held. Adjutant General Ralph M. Immell, camp commander, stood the review and pronounced the guard units in excellent condition.

It is announced by Adj. Gen. Immell that he will commission Lt. Anderson H. Norton, regular army officer stationed in Milwaukee, as a major in the Wisconsin guards to have charge of training of the guard rifle team which will represent Wisconsin in national competition at Camp Perry, Ohio, in September. Lt. Norton is in camp now training the men. Final selections for the team will be determined by the competition here during the two guard encampments.

A full schedule of athletic events is being worked out by camp officers and will be put into action by the latter part of the week. Next week, regimental competition will be conducted to select regimental champions.

CAN PROLONG LIFE OF HORSES, MULES

By Associated Press
Washington. Army experts believe they have discovered the secret of animal longevity.

Old horses and mules in "active service" today have an average age of 14 years, while in the normal civil activities 11-year-old animals are regarded as beyond the age of usefulness. And the "oldsters" of the army herds, whether in the cavalry, artillery or transport service, are still going strong.

In one case a 15-year-old charger is still winning blue ribbons for performances in his class.

The secret, the experts believe, lies in regularity of diet, exercise, rest, grooming and all the other cares with which the army surrounds its animals in time of peace. They estimate that a five year average increase in the useful life period of horses and mules in the service has already been proved, figuring that the 14-year-olds of today will still be fit for active service two years from now.

The total number of animals in active service is 44,423, and the average age for all of these is 14 years. Of the 26,254 horses, 50 per cent are more than 11 years of age and of the 18,169 mules, 64 per cent have passed the 11-year mark. These statistics indicate, according to army experts, that the bulk of animal work in the army is being done by horses and mules which, in civil life, would be regarded as fit only for the bone-yard or the pension list.

BEEES VENTURE INTO CITY AND SWARM IN DOWNTOWN DISTRICT

A swarm of bees got away from meadows and flowers Tuesday as if to venture out and see the city, but they are lodged back in their proper environment now at the Myse Bros. apocry on Lake-rd after spending most of the day downtown.

The swarm moved up Washington-st in a buzzing cloud about 10:30 in the morning and the bees scattered in all directions when their low flying mixed them into the stream of automobiles on Oneida-st. Some took refuge in a lilac tree opposite the police station and the others soon reached the same haven.

Watchers came from all over, timid at first, but bolder when they found that swarming bees do not sting. Somebody told John and Anton Myse, apiarists on Lake-rd, about the swarm and they came to the city with their trapping apparatus. The bees were smoked to a stupor and brushed into a funnel and from their coaxed into a hive.

People wanted to see the queen bee of the swarm and were quite amazed when John Myse reached into the funnel, brushed hundreds of bees aside and held up the prize member of the hive.

EGGERT SUCCEEDS LAPPEN AS MEMBER OF COMMON COUNCIL

Member of Police and Fire Board Succeeds John F. Lappen

William Eggert, a member of the police and fire commission, was elected by the city council at its meeting on Wednesday evening as alderman for the second ward for the unexpired term of J. F. Lappen, resigned. Frank Salberich was Mr. Eggert's only opponent.

Simpson and Parker were awarded the contract for the concrete pavement to be laid on Lemnaw-st and the matter of assessment of benefits and damages of abutting property was referred to the board of public works. Bids on oil burners for city building were rejected and the clerk was instructed to return the checks and re-advertise for bids. The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids for a new boiler to be installed in the city home. The boiler at the home is out of commission after being in use 26 years according to the report of the committee on poor.

The matter of establishing the office comptrollers was again laid on the table. Bids on the old engine house were rejected and the checks returned to the bidders. The chairman of the committee on streets and bridges was instructed to meet with the representatives of the several railroads to confer in the matter of public crossings.

A considerable discussion arose from the communication of the secretary of the park board concerning the change of the location of the tourist camp. The matter was referred to the city attorney who will report at the next meeting.

RED LEADERS WOULD HONOR DEAD CHIEF

Petrograd Is Renamed for Third Time in Decade in Honor of Lenin

By Associated Press
Leningrad, Russia, —Soviet government authorities who in tribute to the late Bolshevik premier, Nicolai Lenin, changed the name of Peter the Great's capital from Petrograd to Leningrad, are taking steps to see that the decree is obeyed.

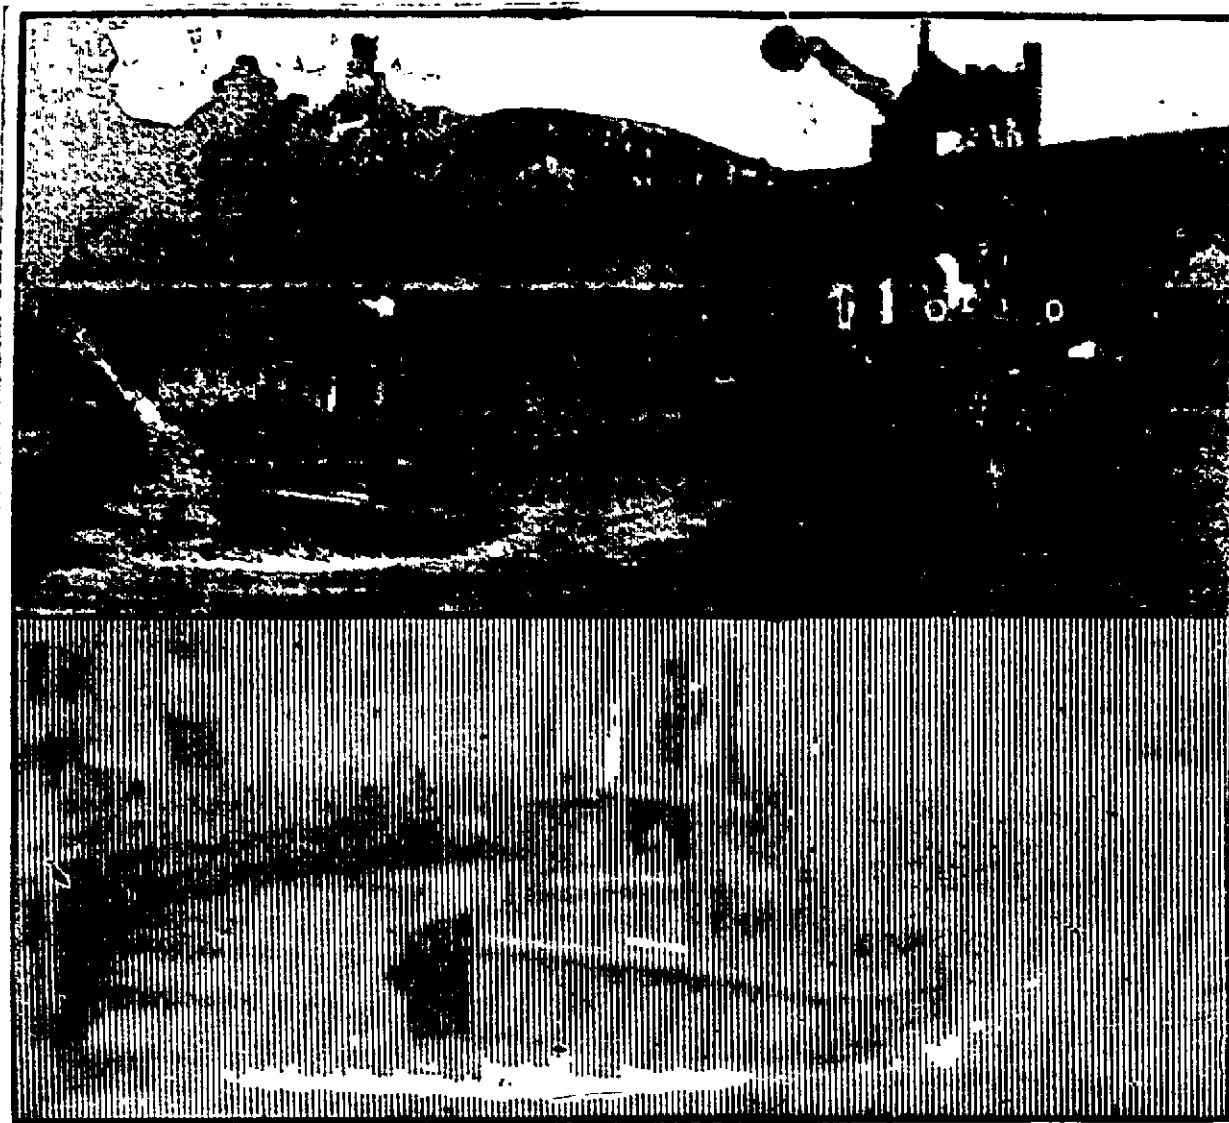

Within a short time, it is announced, fines will be imposed for letters presented at the postoffices addressed to Petrograd. All newspapers dispatched from this city already carry the Leningrad date.

A number of other cities have sought to honor Lenin's memory in a similar fashion. Simbirsk, the capital of the province where Lenin was born, has become Leningok. The administration of Ekaterinoslav, named in honor of Catherine the Great, has petitioned to be renamed Leninovsk. In fact, so many similar petitions have come to the central authorities in Moscow that they have announced none will be granted without considerable deliberation.

Possible To Telephone Photos In Less Than Five Minutes Now

Cleveland, O.—A device has been perfected to telephone photographs over long distances.

Engineers of the American Telegraph Company and the Western Electric Company say:

1. The invention will probably be used for the first time in the transmission of convention photographs by telephone from Cleveland and New York.

2. It will reduce the sending time to less than five minutes, no matter what the distance.

3. It will probably be the forerunner of transmission of photographs by radio telephony across oceans and other expanses.

Plans are already completed for the use of this device with the beginning of the Republican convention. Newspapers and photographic organizations will be permitted to telephone their pictures through this instrument to New York, for publication the same day they are taken.

Without this instrument it would take 14 hours for a photograph to reach New York from here. The new method will take less than five minutes.

TRANSMITTER
The positive film of the photograph to be telephoned is placed on

APPLETON WOMAN WINS PRIZE FOR NEEDLEWORK

Mrs. H. T. Johnson, 479 College-ave, has been notified by Thomas Young Inc., New York, that she has been awarded second prize of $25 in a national needlework contest. The original plan of the contest did not include a second prize, but Mrs. Johnson's entry was of such excellence that the judges determined to add the $25 prize.

Mrs. Johnson entered a seven piece luncheon set in the contest. Last May she received a $10 prize for the best needlework in a local contest.

The luncheon set is now being displayed at the Green Dry Goods Co store.

a cylinder which revolves on a geared axle and is made to move forward one-sixth of an inch at every turn. Through this film a pin point light shines and affects a highly sensitive photoelectric cell underneath, whenever the light and partly shaded spot of the positive film allow the light to penetrate.

The photo-electric, or selenium, cell passes on the impulse it gets from the light through a powerful amplifier and the long distance telephone line to the receiving apparatus, in this case in New York.

RECEIVER
On the receiver is a sensitized film revolving on an axle similar to that on the sender, and in perfect synchrony with the transmitter. The impulses received from the transmitter actuate a set of valves which permit another pin-point of light to penetrate to the sensitized film, or shut off where it is not supposed to affect the film.

The result is a duplicate of the transmitting film with this exception:

Instead of a clear positive the receiving film is a streaked positive—streaked with lines, 65 to the inch, wherever the light was permitted to penetrate the shaded portions of the transmitting positive.

For newspaper reproduction this is about as good as the screened "half-tones" now being printed. Instead of having 65 dots to the inch both ways, as at present, the telephoned photograph has 65 lines to the inch crossing the whole length or width.

Which reduces the photograph actually to a line drawing and makes its reproduction simpler. There is no need of photographing it further through a screen.

PAY ENGRAVING COMPANY FOR ENLARGING BUILDING

Routine business was transacted at the meeting of the water commission in the city hall Wednesday afternoon. The payroll of $1,421.68 was allowed and $5,816.55 was allowed for general bills. A check of $1,500 was drawn payable to the Appleton Engraving company as part payment for the addition to the old pumping station building which the engraving company occupies.

Two reports were read and accepted. The one was on natural condition of the department and the other on the oil burning equipment. A saving over the cost of coal was reported.

Louis Freude has returned from a camping trip to Shawano lake. Mrs. Freude and children are staying there for several days longer.

P. O. WILL START 24-HOUR AIRPLANE FLYING ON JULY 1

Line of Beacons 1,000 Miles Long Will Guide Pilots at Night

Washington.—The "dream" of the postal department—continuous transcontinental air mail service—is to become reality July 1.

On that day postal service flyers will start piloting their planes in steady flight between New York and San Francisco.

An air mail pilot will take off from New York at noon, arriving in Chicago at sundown. There another pilot will take off with his cargo of mail in pursuit of the setting sun.

When darkness falls, he will be guided by a line of beacons 1,000 miles long, between Chicago and Cheyenne, Wyo.

Coming into Cheyenne with the dawn, the second pilot will be relayed by a third, who will wing over the rugged tops of the Rockies and Sierras and land by the shores of the Golden Gate before sunset.

GIANT BEACONS LIGHT WAY
At the same time, a relay of three pilots will be making the eastbound trip.

It is upon night flying—the flight between Chicago and Cheyenne—that the fate of transcontinental air mail service depends.

Realizing this, the Postal Department has established a lighted way in the "darkness zone" calculated to make night flying scarcely more hazardous than flying by day.

Automatic acetylene lamps have been placed every three miles. Every 25 miles there is an emergency landing field, equipped with a revolving electric searchlight. At intervals of 250 miles are the regular landing fields, provided with revolving searchlight beacons of 500,000,000 candle-power, casting their beams 150 miles.

As an added precaution, bids for new planes with slower landing speeds have been called for. The department will furnish the motors—Liberties—while in other respects the planes must fulfill rigid departmental specifications.

SPECIAL STAMPS
The personnel of the air mail flying force—41 pilots and 157 mechanics—will not be augmented; nor will the number of planes now in use—varying from 75 to 80—be increased.

Special air mail stamps have been printed and distributed, while the route has been divided into three zones—between New York and Chicago, Chicago and Cheyenne and Cheyenne and San Francisco. An 8-cent stamp will carry a letter anywhere within one zone, a 16-cent stamp within two zones, and a 24-cent stamp within three zones.

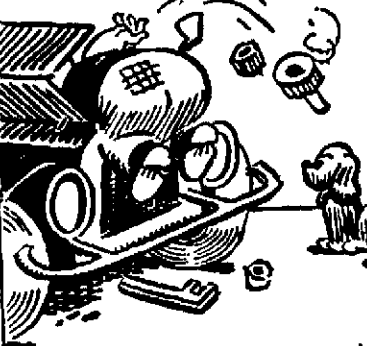

Letters destined to cities off the air mail route will not require extra postage. They will be taken from the planes at the nearest point to their destination and sent on from there by train.

Special air mail post boxes are now red, white and blue designated by signs, and honored by special collection.

Auxiliary air mail service has been in operation for several years, but its purpose has been merely to advance the mails—picking up late mails in New York, for example, carrying them to Cleveland and placing them aboard

NORDMAN PLEADS FOR UNITED LABOR

State Commissioner of Markets Wants New System of Selecting Jobs

Wisconsin Rapids — A plea for united effort on the part of workers of the state and nation was made here Thursday by Edward Nordman, state commissioner of markets, speaking before the annual convention of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor.

"All who serve humanity are workers and their interests are mutual," Mr. Nordman declared. "Instead of these workers fighting each other as they are doing under our present lopsided industrial system, they should be pulling together for a system that would guarantee justice to all who contribute their services to society."

"The whole difficulty with the present situation in labor world is that the supply of labor as well as of commodities exceeds the demand for it. As a result, the wages of labor as a whole are low, notwithstanding the influence of organization. Strikes usually are resorted to, but in most cases they inflict hardships on the public and the strikers themselves without in any way solving the problems of surplus labor that has to go on being idle and underpaid."

"The problem of over-supply of labor can be remedied only by making demand for labor exceed its supply and this in turn can be brought about by creating a situation under which a laborer can have a choice of occupations which will enable him to select the one that offers the best remuneration."

THIEDE GOOD CLOTHES

CAPITAL SCANDALS CAME ONE BY ONE SINCE YEAR 1797

Outbreak in 70's As Bad As Present Teapot Dome Case, Records Show

Washington—Capital capital scandals are not new.

The United States had an outbreak of government scandals in the 70's as bad as the present scandals are.

The amounts involved weren't as large in dollars and cents, but money wasn't handled in such sums in those days. The equivalent values were as large.

The first of the scandals "broke" in President Grant's administration, in 1872.

VICE PRESIDENT "IN"
The Union Pacific railroad was building. It had government financial support on a large scale. A company called the Credit Mobilier was formed to do the work and to sell material, equipment and supplies to the road.

The idea was to charge ridiculously high prices; to take in payment Union Pacific stock and bonds at prices ridiculously low.

The government being interested, it became necessary to "split" the "graff" they called it "boodle" then with numerous officials. When exposure came it was found that these officials included the vice president, the speaker of the house, three senators, several representatives and scores of departmental executives in nearly every governmental branch.

In 1873 a particularly bold treasury raid was attempted. Congress voted stiff salary increases to all its members, not only for the future but also for the two preceding years. Such an outcry went up that the lawmakers were frightened into rescinding this act the next year, but in the meantime many had drawn their money and the government never got it back.

240 INDICTED
In 1874 it was discovered that distilleries throughout the west had been defrauding the revenue department systematically of enormous sums. Secretary of the Treasury Bristow was aware of the steal and had been fighting it, but the grafters had representatives in every governmental department where they needed influence and laughed at him for a long time.

Two hundred and forty indictments followed this exposure, including the chief clerk of the treasury and the private secretary to the president.

In 1876 Secretary of War Belknap was caught selling government appointments and signing government contracts at a profit to himself. Imprisonment proceedings were begun against him but before he could be thrown out of office he resigned.

From the fact that another Republican administration followed Grant's, it might be guessed that the people didn't take these scandals very seriously. But they did. The next campaign was between Hayes and Tilden. In which the Democrats won a popular victory, though they lost the presidency by a partisan electoral commission.

COST BLAINE PRESIDENCY
The Star Route scandal "broke" in 1881. It related to mail transportation by other than the regular railroad and steamship lines. Much western transportation was by stage then and prices were high. The Postoffice Department was shaken to its foundation, the second assistant postmaster general was indicted, one of its own members was tried by the Senate and scores of political careers were blighted for all time.

As prominent a public man as James G. Blaine was hit by the Little Rock & Fort Smith Railroad failure scandal, and though his defense was pretty good, the affair had much to do with costing him the presidency in 1884.

The "embalmed beef" scandal of the Spanish-American war was an event of hardly more than yesterday; the Ballinger scandal of the administration, involving Interior Department grants of Alaskan resources to private mineral interests, of scarcely as long ago as that.

In the republic's very early history there were scandals, too.

Army contractors were accused of graft in Washington's day. Senator William Blount of Tennessee was impeached in 1797, though acquitted; Justice Samuel Chase of the Federal Supreme Court also acquitted, had 13 votes of guilty in an impeachment trial cast against him by senators in 1804.

WOMEN OF IRELAND DISLIKE JURY DUTY

By Associated Press
Dublin—Women are now liable to serve on juries in the Free State, but they do not all like their new responsibility. They say it interferes with their domestic duties, and is especially objectionable when it involves the trial of unpleasant sexual cases.

The sheriff of Dublin, Dr. Loran Sherlock, suggests that a bill be passed making optional the service of women on juries, only those serving who have notified the authorities of their desire to do so.

COOPERATIVE IDEA IS CELEBRATED IN GHENT

By Associated Press
Ghent, Belgium—The first international exhibition of cooperation and social works has been opened here. Ghent being the birthplace of the cooperative movement. The exhibition which will remain open three months has displays from 32 countries, the United States being represented by the Co-operative League.

The statistics section is very complete, showing the growth of the cooperative movement, which now has 30,000,000 members.

Weary Willies Congregate In Pembine Jungle

Marquette—"From the looks of things, the 1924 convention of the United Hoboes and Weary Willies of the World is being held in the Pembine jungles," said Deputy Sheriff John Quigley of Marquette after checking up the county jail register and herding a crew of vagrants to the workhouse near Peshtigo. They had drawn sentences of from five to 15 days in justice court.

The Pembine jungles, known to every knight of the road in the northwest, according to the deputy, is in a clump of woods along the track of the Milwaukee road, about a half mile from the village. The patch of trees is along a prominent knoll, at the bottom of which runs a creek. The creek serves as a wash tub, when one of the roamers gets a notion to wash his shirt, and at other times provides water for the mulligan stew.

Under the stars, 40 or 50 men, of all descriptions and nationalities, huddled from the four corners of the earth sleep almost every night during the summer, and woe to anyone who disturbs their slumbers. When morning comes, they usually pass around the hat for enough to get bread and the things which go to make up the stew. The improvised stove, always in place for cooking, is the work of an expert.

After breakfast, the jungles become tame for the boys, so they wander up to the village and hang around the depot or the soft drink saloons talking over experiences and conditions in other parts of the country.

FILM SHOWS ORIGIN OF JEWISH CUSTOMS

By Associated Press
San Francisco—Preparations are under way to produce a seven-reel motion picture showing the history and significance of the Jewish month of Nisan. It is announced here by A. Gray, editor of the San Francisco Jewish World.

The film will depict the era beginning with the birth of Moses and ending with the crossing of the Red Sea. It then will unfold in story form the life of an American Jewish family that observes all the orthodox customs of the Jewish religion. The family will be shown to be "thoroughly Americanized," according to the announcement, and celebrating American as well as Jewish holidays.

The scenario is being forwarded to prominent Jewish pedagogues and educators throughout the country for approval or suggestions.

A school will be opened in San Francisco to train the cast, whose principals, said Mr. Gray, probably will be actors and actresses nationally known.

In purpose the film will be educational and informative.

"In sympathy with this project," added Mr. Gray, "are 3,500,000 Jews in America."

A Big Dollar's Worth for Each Dollar

President Coolidge in an address to business men recently said that "the deal in which one side gets the best of it" is not good business. It does not promote more business or produce confidence in business generally.

The remarkable growth of this Company in 22 years from one obscure store to 571 stores scattered from ocean to ocean, proves the President's point.

The Golden Rule has been our guide. For each dollar given to us we have given a big dollar's worth in return.

HIGHWAY BUILDERS IN RACINE TRYING OUT RUBBER PAVING

Wisconsin City Experimenting
With New Type of Road
Covering

The rubber tire made the bicycle popular, and this inflated, pneumatic tire made the motor vehicle popular. Engineers and others connected with highway work are now wondering whether a rubber pavement will be the next step in developing a shock absorber for motor driven vehicles.

For several years experiments in this direction have been in progress in England. It is said: The first experiments with rubber pavement in America are being made at Racine, Wis. It is reported and are described in a recent issue of "Indian Rubber World," a New York magazine.

Advocates of this type of pavement admit that its first cost is heavy, but economy is the ultimate result because of its great wearing qualities it is claimed.

As yet, no one has predicted that Wisconsin is going to get rubber roads, but highway commissioners and engineers are watching the experiment with interest. The Wright Rubber products company of Racine is doing the experimental work in that city in the form of a rubber paving brick laid at a Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul crossing, where there is heavy traffic. The rubber blocks are made of old tires ground in properly compounded, and moulded under high pressure. There is a creosoted wooden sub-base to which each of the blocks is fastened with two screws and the blocks are interlocked beneath the surface. The paving bricks are of regular brick size. Half-inch guard rails six inches deep are placed at the edges. Heavy trucks, horses and all types of vehicles pass over the rubber pavement as quietly as over a carpet and leave no mark upon it, according to reports.

Imitate Operator If You Would Have Best Service On Telephone

When you tell the telephone exchange operator that you want 4293 and she persists in giving you the wrong number, you had better do a little number practicing yourself. Chances are that when you have trouble making an operator understand you, there is something wrong with your method of giving the numbers rather than with her.

When the chief operator of the Appleton exchange, Mrs. Nina Turin, was asked to describe the model telephone user, the conversation turned at once to the way people give their numbers to the operator. She said that the operators often are trained for weeks before they can repeat the number distinctly after the patron so that he may know that she understood him correctly. They are watchful of the way their supervisors so that defects in their part of putting through telephone calls are quickly detected but the subscriber gets neither training nor supervision in putting through calls.

HERE IS A WAY TO HELP

"The operator stops a second between numbers and to give the subscriber time to correct her if there is an error," said Mrs. Turin. "It takes training to get the operators to do this. Time is wasted however when the person calling does not let the operator know that she has understood. She waits a second to determine whether the person calling is going to say anything. If he would say 'right' a fraction of a second would be saved."

There are times in a telephone exchange when the wires hum with activity. From 9 to 10 and even 10 to 11 in the morning, 1 to 2 in the afternoon and 6:45 to 8 in the evening the lines are carrying their heaviest load of business calls. People who wish to be cooperative in the matter of good service will put in only the necessary calls during these periods. The company makes no demands about visiting calls during this busy time but the operators feel that a great deal of inconvenience to patrons generally could be eliminated if they would cooperate to the extent of making all calls "short and snappy."

BE PATIENT

"A little patience on very hot, very cold and rainy days would save the telephone users some inconvenience," Mrs. Turin said. "The weather has something to do with our busy days. On the days when people do not leave their homes or their places of business unless they have to, the operators are pretty busy. It means that in the office every effort is being put forth for the best possible service. Impatience at a time like

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours.

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenbu, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment. Allenbu has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and piteous and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen, the discoverer of Allenbu, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenbu decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists to guarantee it as above in every instance. CALL ON U. S. TO STOP POISONING OF BIRDS IN CITY

Aid of the federal government is to be invoked by Appleton bird lovers to halt the practice of bird poisoning, prevalent here, it was learned from Judge A. M. Spencer of municipal court. Birdlovers have been shocked by the wanton destruction of birds the last few weeks. Hundreds of dead birds have been found on the grounds surrounding the courthouse and in many other parts of the city. It is believed the birds are poisoned by garden owners who are spreading poisoned corn and grain in or near their gardens. Inasmuch as the birds may fly a long distance after eating the poison before they fall to the ground, it has been difficult to learn where the poison is administered.

In the recent edition of the Appleton telephone directory, the attention of the patrons is called to the uselessness of the word "hello" as the one with which to answer the telephone. Patrons are urged to give the firm name and the person speaking when the receiver is taken up in response to a ring, thus: "Smith's grocery, Mrs. Smith speaking," or Jones' residence, Helen Jones speaking.

This phrasing is being advocated as the up to date way while "hello" as claimed by the advertisement to be out of date.

STATE DEMOCRATS MEET ON SATURDAY

A large number of prominent Appleton Democrats have received letters inviting them to attend a statewide Democratic rally at Milwaukee on Saturday under auspices of the Jefferson league and it is probable that Appleton and Outagamie co will be represented at the gathering. The purpose is to discuss plans for the fall campaign. Leaders in Wisconsin Democracy have been outspoken of late for a complete slate of state and county officers for next fall.

Judge Martin Lueck of Beaver Dam is the first Democrat to definitely announce himself as a candidate for election as governor. Judge Lueck has been an ardent worker in the Democratic organization for several years and announcement of his candidacy is regarded as the first step in the movement to put a complete ticket in the field.

Norway's strike is estimated to have cost the country over 100,000,000 crowns.

LAW-ST BRIDGE LAMPS ARRIVE IN APPLETON

Ornamental lamps which are to be placed on the Law-st bridge have at last arrived in the city. They were expected many weeks ago but various circumstances caused delays.

It probably will be some time before the lamps are erected on the bridge because much of the glass was broken in transit. When the glass is replaced, the lamps will be set up as soon as possible.

Teach Girls
How To Test
Beauty Drugs

Texas State College for Women
Shows How to Detect Harmful Cosmetics

Denton, Tex.—If the hitherto undisturbed tranquility of the beauty parlor loses its calm in the near future, it will be because some betwixt-ed, bemused, massaged young lady suddenly rises from her reclining position to whisper hoarsely, "Stop!"

With one swift stroke of her little finger she will scrape from her cheek a smear of freckle cream, deposit it inside the lid of her rouge box and then lift a warning forefinger under the nose of the masseur.

SPECIAL TRAINING

"How do I know," she'll remonstrate, "that I'm getting pure cream on my face? I'll analyze this sample before it's rubbed into my pores."

And analyze it she will.

It's part of the training being given to students of the Texas State College for Women here so they may avoid the pitfalls and, yes, the face pits that result from impurities in freckle creams and other skin lotions.

Whole boudoir reserves of powders, rouge, creams and pastes have been brought to the college laboratory for critical examination with test tube and bunsen burner.

Mercury salts it was found, are prevalent in many freckle creams that have won wide favor. These eat into the skin, causing tiny pits to form and giving the complexion a splotchy appearance.

Tis better, the women students conclude, to have freckles than the punctured appearance of a worn-out inner tube.

Zinc salts and bismuth are found in many toilet preparations, but they are not distinctly harmful to the complexion. Rouge contains carmine, an alum salt of no disadvantage to the skin, and a majority of face powders analyzed were made with magnesium salts.

TOOTH PASTE

Tooth paste manufacturers may dwell at length upon the cleansing properties of their products, but the girls discovered, when those products are filled with pumice stone, soft teeth are sure to suffer.

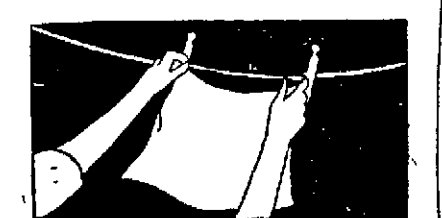

More wary purchasing of toilet articles is advised by the girl cosmetic analysts.

"Freckles plus certain creams equal pits," is the equation that has been evolved from the chemistry lab.

Household
Suggestions

DUSTLESS DUSTER

A very good dustless duster which cleans without polishing is made by saturating a square of cheese cloth in kerosene oil and hanging out in the open air until it no longer feels wet to the touch.

SOAP JELLY

A soap jelly that is excellent for shampoos is made by dissolving soap shavings in an equal amount of boiling water and adding a teaspoon of borax for every pint.

ADD MILK

When making omelets or scrambled eggs you can increase the bulk with out detracting from the flavor by adding a teaspoon of milk or water for each egg used.

Good Manners

The calling card of a lady is usually from about 2 1/4 to 3 1/2 inches wide by about 2 to 2 3/4 inches high, but there is no fixed rule. The card of a young girl is smaller and more nearly square. A gentleman's card is long and narrow, about 3 inches long by 1 1/2 inches high.

Here's Summer Girl

In Rose-Colored Crepe

Here's the summer girl at her summeriest in a gown of rose-colored crepe embroidered in deeper tones and fluffed up with much ostrich. There's a cape-like arrangement in the back which may be worn as a scarf over one arm, if desired. The wide circular flounce which gives such fullness at the hemline is one of its most important touches sartorially. Paris is tiring of the straightline frock and is working out very interesting effects with circular lines.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

(A Menu for the Stout and Thin)

EAT AND—

—Lose Weight—Gain Weight—

Breakfast—Two fresh plums, toasted bran muffin, hot water.

Luncheon—Two prunes and cottage cheese sandwiches, 1 cup skimmed milk, 1/2 cup ivory cream with 1/2 cup fresh berries.

Dinner—Four ounces broiled calves' brains, 4 tablespoons chopped new beets, 1/2 cup boiled kale, 1 cup shredded cabbage, 1 bran roll.

Bedtime—One cup skimmed milk. Total calories, 1102. Protein, 261; fat, 201; carbohydrate, 640. Iron, .0177 gram.

The prune and cottage cheese sandwiches suggested for the luncheon are nourishing and easy to eat. Uncooked prunes are carefully washed and put through the food chopper, the stones of course being removed. An equal amount of cottage cheese is added and the mixture moistened with orange juice. Put between thin slices of whole wheat or gluten bread.

Try chopping beets very fine instead of in coarse dice. When your vegetables must be so plainly dressed it's sometimes a relief to find them served in a bit different shape and sizes.

The kale is served with lemon juice, salt and pepper.

If vegetables for the reducing diet are "dished" before the seasoning is added for the family the cook will find herself above criticism and free to add butter and cream to suit her taste and judgment for the family.

It is remarkable to see the slender lines that may be achieved for stout figures by the ingenious use of drapes and panels.

A touch of scarlet brightens the majority of white, gray, black and navy blue gowns that are seen, and it is particularly liked with plaids and checks.

Chamois skin gloves, very large and comfortable, are very smart with the tailleur.

The tailored dress frequently has a circular hem these days, but it is so perfectly cut that the line is scarcely different from the tubular frock, but there is more freedom for walking.

Much fur is evidently to be used for fall and winter—double and triple bands are seen on the bottoms of model coats and dresses.

Pineapple Is Dish One May Serve Often

BY HENRIETTA JESSUP

The "popular pine" not only is generally useful as a food but as a decoration to a dish—serving double purpose as a food and a garnish. The richness in flavor and the fragrance always contribute greatly to the wonderful variety of dishes that can be made from this delicious fruit.

It gives point to a fruit salad and combines well with almost any other fruit.

For a sweet entree the pineapple contributes greatly to meal. What more satisfactory dessert can one wish for than a slice of pineapple with a decoration of whipped cream on top?

In punches and ices its use is universal, and it finds a place in many frozen desserts.

It enhances the flavor of a glass of lemonade and is most refreshing fruit in the heat of summer as well as the cold of winter.

It is often given in throat troubles for its soothing effect upon the membranes.

The following recipes may be helpful in suggesting some way of serving this delicious fruit. Since its rough covering is a good lodging place for dust, it is a wise precaution to give it a thorough scrubbing with water and brush before cutting off the rind.

PINEAPPLE MARMALADE

2 cups crushed or shredded pineapple 1 cup water 2 cups of sugar 3 tablespoons lemon juice.

Make a sirup of the sugar and water. When boiled down somewhat add the crushed pineapple. Simmer till it becomes as thick as jam. Then add the lemon juice and cook a minute or two longer. Do not allow it to boil hard at any time. Remove from the stove, put in glasses and seal as in the case of jelly.

PINEAPPLE AND PIMIENTO SALAD

A delectable salad can be made of crushed pineapple and canned pimientos. Serve on a bed of lettuce leaves with a French dressing.

If preferred, the pimientos may be cut into thin strips and carefully placed on slices of pineapple to represent a poinsettia-blossom.

This salad is especially nice served with the meat course at an informal dinner.

Adventures Of
The Twins

THE POTATO-HORSE

Along the road of Doo-funny Land skipped Nancy and Nick and Mister Fuzz Wuzz singing:

"We're so happy and so gay
We could throw ourselves away.
But we'd come back in a hurry,
So you really needn't worry."

"What's that? What's that?" cried a sour voice beside them. A very sour voice!

"We were just saying," said Nick, "that we were very happy."

"But you've gone and spoiled it all," declared Nancy. "Nobody can be happy with someone like you."

"I should say not!" remarked Mister Fuzz Wuzz. "Who are you, anyway? Why don't you come out and let us have a look?"

"Because I can't see! I'm blind and here I stay I suppose for the rest of my days. It makes me nervous to hear people yelling that they are so happy and so gay."

"Stuff! Stuff and nonsense! Who wants you to be sorry? But it does seem too bad that I who had a dozen eyes, can't see a thing any more."

"If you can't come to us, we will go to you," declared Mister Fuzz Wuzz. "I don't like anybody in Doo-funny Land to be unhappy."

And whom do you think they found? The potato-horse—the proud steed with match legs and broom-straw tail!

"Well, well, well! So it's you, Spud, is it?" cried Mister Fuzz Wuzz. "How does it come that your master, the peanut-boy, isn't looking after you?"

"He's been in bed with a cracked nose," said Spud. "And I fell and got dirt in every one of my eyes, and now I can't even see what I am eating."

"Oh, we can fix you up," declared Mister Fuzz Wuzz.

Well, all three of them got at the poor blind potato-horse and cleaned the mud out of his dozen eyes, but no sooner had he gotten his sight back than he began to stamp and back and stand up on his hind legs as though he had gone crazy.

"Now what's wrong?" demanded the little pipch after man.

"It's that white thing behind me," whinnied the potato-horse. "What is it? It scares me."

"Only a piece of paper," said Nick. "And what's that black thing yonder?" snickered the horse. It makes me shiver all over."

"Only a shadow," said Nancy. "It won't hurt you."

"But there's another black thing on my other side that looks like a snake," shivered the horse. "What's that?"

"Only a garden hose," Mister Fuzz Wuzz assured him.

"Say, look here, old Mister Fussy," cried Mister Fuzz Wuzz, "you were happier blind. It won't hurt you. I suppose not," whinnied the horse. "But do put blinders on all my eyes, please. Then I'll feel safe."

"There's none so blind as those who won't see," said the little man. "But I give it up. Come on, Twins. This fellow has made up his mind to be unhappy, no matter what we do."

The Tangle

LETTER FROM SALLY ATHERTON TO JAMES CONDON

Oh Jimmie, Jimmie, what a boy you are! You say: "Do you realize you have been away over two months and not a one has heard from you? At least, I have not heard from you and as Sam has made no mention of your name I didn't feel privileged to ask him if he had heard."

Has it been only two months since I left home? Positively, it seems to me as though I had been here forever. I feel as though I had hit the thing I want to do most in the world. It's a constant fight every minute in this advertising business, and I am never quite sure whether my boss is going to purr like a kitty cat or growl like a bear, he is so temperamental. But that makes him interesting, Jim.

I didn't say "Poor boy!" when I read your letter, over. Instead I smiled. You thought you were writing me the kind of a letter that a sophisticated man in the world would write, but you don't at all. And as for me not wanting to live without the admiration or devotion of some man—I guess that's true Jim. But isn't it true of every woman?

You say also, "You let me love you." Good Lord, Jim, of course I let you love me! I've let a dozen men love me, but I didn't allow them to tell me so, although they knew they loved me and they knew I knew they loved me. But also remember this, my boy, they knew I don't love them.

So you think I plague a man's curiosity, Jim? That's interesting, if true. And let me make a little confession to you. I sometimes rather pique my own! I'm not always sure just what I'm going to do next, are you? It makes life so much more thrilling, doesn't it, if you cannot see it all out and dried before you.

And so Sam hasn't mentioned me to you since I left. Does he seem happy, Jim? Honestly? To really like him to be happy. You know he wasn't happy at all with me, and yet he's got one of those peculiar dispositions that makes you think I've been horrid to him to leave him, and he won't just own up to himself that he is happier without me.

Isn't it queer, Jim, that we have so many complexes and inhibitions? I've had them all my life until now; but now I feel free, Jim, much freer than I ever have been before. I have enough work to keep my restlessness in subjection, and I have a feeling I'm going to make something of myself.

Jim, I think I should have been a man—not that I don't like being a woman, but a man can change his mind often without people calling attention to the fact. A man has a chance to grow, to throw aside the things that hamper him, and above all else, a man can make friends with other men.

You see, Jim, I'm not treating you like a boy any more. I'm talking to you now like a friend. I need a friend, Jim. Be mine, won't you? At least until you marry some sweet girl who will hate me and probably hardly allow you to speak to me. And yet, Jim, I think the time will come some day when you will be glad I was your friend and that you learned about women from

SALLY.

TOMORROW, Ruth Ellington writes to Leslie Prescott—Before Leslie returns home.

Let's see—where did we leave off? Oh, yes! We're so happy and so gay—come on, all together! Sing everybody—

"Rubbish!" said the horse. "No sympathy in this world!"

Woman Lives
Hermit Life
As Botanist

Kerby, Ore.—A woman who has found her vocation in places otherwise unpenetrated, save for hardiest of occasional hunters, trappers and prospectors, has her headquarters here.

She is Mrs. J. M. Finch, 57, a botanist who makes her living from gathering rare plants and bulbs.

Her workroom is remote ranges of the Siskiyou mountains of northern California and Southern Oregon.

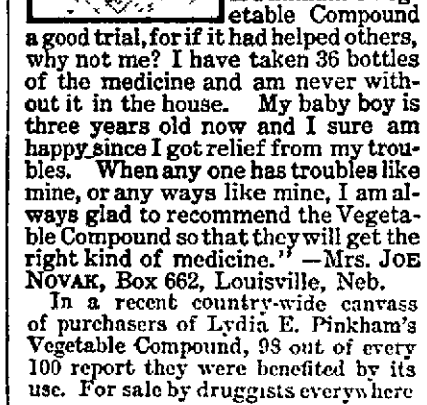

Her equipment is rifle, pack horse.

Gladly Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Louisville, Nebraska.—"I was married twelve years before my boy was born. I had a lot of female troubles and had been treated by a physician for them but they continued much the same. Then I read your advertisement in the newspapers and thought I would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a good trial, for it had helped others, why not me? I have taken 36 bottles of the medicine and am never without it in the house. My baby boy is three years old now and I sure am happy since I got relief from my troubles. When any one has troubles like mine, or any ways like mine, I am always glad to recommend the Vegetable Compound so that they will get the right kind of medicine."—Mrs. JOE NOVAK, Box 662, Louisville, Neb.

"The mountains, I love them!" declares Mrs. Finch. "I have spent all my life in them. For more than 26 years I have worked in the Siskiyou and I have shipped my plants and bulbs to most parts of the United States and Europe."

Mrs. Finch generally makes her trips alone—journeys of a week to 10 days—and meets dangers of storm and blizzard without fear. Nor does she fear wild animals, trusting to her rifle accuracy for protection.

Mrs. Finch became interested in the work when she heard stories of the rare specimens which were hidden away in the valleys and unknown places of the Siskiyou.

She made her first trip, and so satisfactory were the results that she has continued.

Plants and bulbs which she collects are eagerly desired in all parts of the world, rare Lewisias, Mariposa tulips, rock plants and many others.

Mrs. Finch is in the best of health, which she attributes to her active outdoor life.

"I expect to be doing the same work when I'm 60," she declares. "Personally, I think it's a great life for a woman."

SO BIG

By Edna Ferber

Dallas emerged in greatcoat and a new spring hat. She waved a hand to the faithful Gilda Hanan. "Tell any one who inquires for me that I've felt the call of spring. And if the boy comes for that clay pack picture tell him to-morrow was the day."

They were down the stairs and off in the powerful car that seemed to be at the visitors' disposal. Through the Loop, up Michigan Avenue, into the south side, Chicago, often lowering and blue to-day. The air was sharp but beneath the brusqueness of it was a gentle promise. Dallas and Pool were very much absorbed in Paris plans. Paris reminiscences. "And do you remember the time we... only seven francs among the lot of us and the dinner was... you're surely coming over in June, then..."

"You've got the thing, I tell you... you'll be great. Dallas... remember what Vibray said... study... work." Dirk was wretched. He pointed out objects of interest to General Goguet. Sixty miles of boulevard. Park system. Finest in the country. Grand Boulevard. Drexel Boulevard. Jackson Park. Illinois Central trains. Terrible, yes, but they were electrifying. Going to make 'em run by electricity, you know. Things wouldn't look so dirty, after that. Halsted Street. Longest street in the world.

"And 'Ah, yes' said the General politely. 'Ah, yes. Quite so. Most interesting.'"

The rich black loam of High Prairie. A hint of fresh green things just peeping out of the earth. Hot-houses. Coldframes. The farm.

It looked very trim and neat. The house, white with green shutters (Selina's dream realized), smiled at them from among the willows that were already burgeoning badly under the wooing of a mild and early spring.

"But I thought you said it was a small farm!" said General Goguet, as they descended from the car. He looked about at the acreage.

"It is small," Dirk assured him. "Only about forty acres."

"Ah, well, you Americans. In France we farm on a very small scale, you understand. We have not the land. The great vast country." He waved his right arm. You felt that if the left sleeve had not been empty he would have made a large and sweeping gesture with both arms.

Selina was not in the neat quiet house. She was not on the porch, or in the yard. Moena Bras, phlegmatic and unfettered, came in from the kitchen. Mrs. DeLong was in the fields. She would call her. This she proceeded to do by blowing three powerful blasts and again three on a horn which she took from a hook on the wall. She stood in the kitchen doorway facing the fields, blowing, her red cheeks puffed outrageously. "That bring here," Moena assured them; and went back to her work. They came out on the porch to await Selina. She was out on the west sixteen—the west sixteen that used to be unprofitable, half-drowned muckland. Dirk felt a little uneasy, and ashamed that he should feel so.

Then they saw her coming, a small dark figure against the background of sun and sky and fields. She came swiftly yet ploddingly, for the ground was heavy. They stood facing her, the four of them. As she came nearer they saw she was wearing a dark skirt pinned up about her ankles to protect it from the wet spring earth and yet it was spattered with a border of mud spots. A rough heavy gray sweater was buttoned closely about the straight slim body. On her head was a battered soft black hat. Her feet, in broad-toed sensible boots, she lifted high out of the soft clinging soil. As she came nearer she took off her hat and holding it a little to one side against the sun, shaded her eyes with it. Her hair blew a little in the gentle spring breeze. Her cheeks were faintly pink. She was coming up the path now. She could distinguish their faces. She saw Dirk; smiled, waved. Her glance went inquiringly to the other—the boarded man in uniform, the tall girl, the man with the dark vivid face. Then she stopped, suddenly, and her hand went to her heart as though she had felt a great pang, and her lips were parted, and her eyes enormous. As Roelf came forward swiftly she took a few quick running steps toward him like a young girl. He took the slight figure in the mud-spattered skirt, the rough gray sweater, and the battered old hat into his arms.

XXI
They had had tea in the farm sitting room and Dallas had made a little moaning over the beauty of the Dutch lustre set. Selina had entertained them with the shining air of one who is robed in silk and fine linen. She and General Goguet had got on famously from the start, meeting on the common ground of asparagus culture.

"But how thick?" he demanded, for he, too, had his pet asparagus beds on the farm in Brittany. "How thick at the base?" Selina made a circle with thumb and forefinger. The General groaned with envy and despair. He was very comfortable, the General. He parroted largely of tea and cakes. He flattered Selina with his eyes. She actually dimpled, flushed, laughed like a girl. But it was to Roelf she turned; it was on Roelf that her eyes dwelt, and rested. It was with him she walked when she was silent and the others talked. It was as though he were her one son, and had come home. Her face was radiant, beautiful.

Seated next to Dirk, Dallas said in a low voice: "There, that's what I mean when I say I want to do portraits. Not portraits of ladies with a string of pearls and one lily hand half hidden in the folds of a satin skirt. I mean character portraits of men and women who are really distinguished looking—distinguishedly American, for example—like you mother."

Dirk looked up at her quickly, half smiling, as though expecting to find her smiling, too. But she was not smiling. "My mother?" "Yes, if she'd let me. With that fine splendid face all lit up with the light that comes from inside, and the jawline like that of the women who came over in the Mayflower; or crossed the continent in a covered wagon; and her eyes! And that battered funny gorgeous bum old hat and the white shirtwaist—and her hands! She's beautiful. She'd make me famous at one leap. You'd see!"

Dirk stared at her. It was as though he could not comprehend. Then he turned in his chair to stare at his mother. Selina was talking to Roelf. "And you've done all the famous men of Europe, haven't you, Roelf? To think of it! You've seen the world, and you've got it in your hand. Little Roelf Pool. And you did it all alone. In spite of everything."

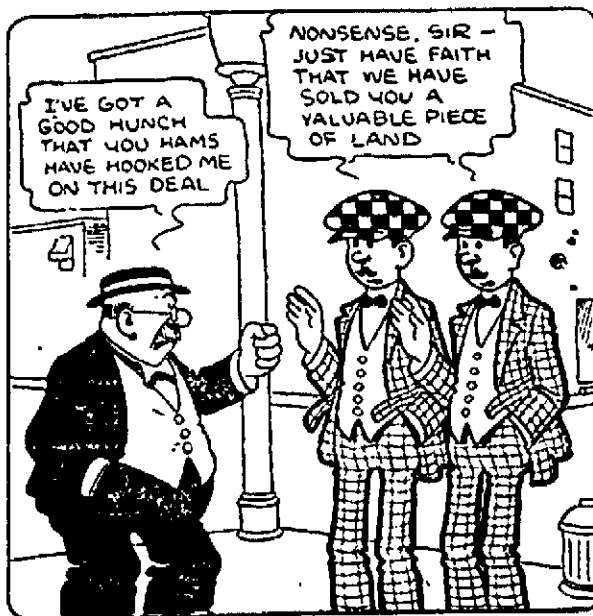

Roelf leaned toward her. He put his hand over her rough one. "Cabbages are beautiful," he said. Then they both laughed as at some exquisite joke. Then, seriously: "What a fine life you've had, too, Selina. A full life, and a rich one and successful."

"I!" exclaimed Selina. "Why Roelf, I've been here all these years. Just where you left me when you were a boy. I think the very hat and dress I'm wearing might be the same I wore then. I've seen nowhere, done nothing, seen nothing. When I think of all the places I was going to see! All the things I was going to do!" "You've been everywhere in the world," said Roelf. "You've seen all the places of great beauty and light. You remember you told me that your father had once said, when you were a little girl, that there were only two kinds of people who really mattered in the world. One kind was wheat and the other 'kind emeralds. You're wheat, Selina."

"And you're emerald," said Selina, quickly.

Twin City K. C.'s Beat Appleton, 7-4, But Bow To Electric City, 7-1

Neenah-Menasha Knights Profit By Flock of Errors to Humble Paper City Team at Brighton Beach Picnic.

Neenah-Menasha Knights of Columbus Wednesday afternoon defeated the Appleton K. C.'s 7 to 4, and then took a 7 to 1 drubbing at the hands of the Kaukauna Knights in 5-inning indoor baseball games which were part of the program of the Knights of Columbus picnic at Brighton beach.

Fast work by their own fielders and errors on the part of Appleton gave the Twin City players an easy victory in the first contest. Connelly pitched a good game for Appleton but was at a disadvantage because Clough, who pitched for the winners, used a side arm delivery. The Neenah-Menasha team scored three runs in the first inning on hits and many errors, while Appleton did not score until the third when a three-bagger, a double and a single was made to count for three tallies. However, the hostiles gathered two more runs in the third and fourth and permitted Appleton to get one more in a triple in the fourth. The final stanza gave the winners another brace of counters and made it 7 to 4.

Batteries: Neenah-Menasha—Clough and Landgraf; Appleton—Connelly and Heckle.

KAUKAUNA TURNS TABLES
In the second tilt, the Twin city outfit seemed to be tired out. Despite the fact that a new pitcher was used, the Kaukauna tribe hit him hard and kept the fielders on the jump from the start to finish. Thieving bases was the specialty of the Kaukauna Knights, who scored four runs in the first on hits and errors, to one for the twins. The second inning was the only one in which the Kaukauna men did not score.

Rammel, Neenah-Menasha left fielder drove a homer to Hurtnum at first in the final stanza which would have been good for the circuit if it had been allowed to pass. Hurtnum's brilliant one-handed catch ended the game. Landgraf played the part of backstop for the Twins in both games without a wobble.

The batteries: Neenah-Menasha—Scholl and Landgraf; Kaukauna—Fahstom and Faust.

WASHINGTON MANAGER REINSTATED BY PREXY

Chicago—President Ban Johnson of the American league Monday night reinstated Stanley Harris, manager of the Washington club, suspended last Monday for protesting against umpire Holmes' decision on balls and strikes. Harris protests so excited the Washington fans that Holmes was made the victim of an attack. Harris will be eligible to play tomorrow.

STATE GOLF QUEEN WINS FIRST ROUND OF PLAY FOR TITLE

Bernice Wall Easily Glides Into Second Stanza of Blue Mound Tourney

Milwaukee — Miss Bernice Wall, pretty Oshkosh golfer, sojourning this week at Blue Mound's bunkered links for no other reason than to defend her state championship, glided quite gently into the second round of match play by eliminating Mrs. K. D. Pierson of the Milwaukee Country club on Wednesday, 5 up and 4 to play.

In her victory, the title defender demonstrated convincingly that she means to keep the beautiful championship bowl for another year. At no time did Mrs. Pierson cause her no time did Mrs. Pierson cause her eminent opponent any heartaches. The Country club golfer got away to a poor start, losing the first hole in 6, tied the second and then proceeded to give an exhibition that was entirely unlike her customary game. When the ninth green had been passed, Miss Wall enjoyed a comfortable lead of five points and victory was only a matter of time.

The Oshkosh star took only 41 strokes for the outward round and, playing out the by-holes came home in 44 to register the finest total for the day. Mrs. Pierson's finish was 94, getting 47's for each half.

MEDALIST CONTINUES
While the champion was slipping so smoothly and unhampered through the dreaded first round, Miss Frances Haddfield, Blue Mound's expert stroke-maker and medalist in this tournament, was vanquishing another Country club representative, Mrs. George Blakney, 4 and 2.

Two eminent state experts, picked as title candidates after they had reached the semi-finals a year ago at Madison's Maple Bluff course, were out of it after Wednesday's first round.

Mrs. G. Cleophas, Beloit's eminent fan, after turning the ninth with a 3-point advantage over Mrs. George Niedeecken of Blue Mound, saw her enormous lead gradually decrease on the final half, and on No. 16 green was congratulating Mrs. Niedeecken for the game, uphill, successful struggle she had made. The victor started the inward round by taking five holes, a most unusual feat. She won 3 and 2.

Miss Ruth Landauer of Woodmont, flashing a fine 43 on the outward round, put out Mrs. S. R. Boyce of Madison by the huge count of 5 and 4. Mrs. Boyce had considerable trouble putting and that, summarily, is the story of her elimination.

ROD AND REEL

M. J. V. FOSE

FILLING THE LARDER

When the game fins are off-iced, the bunch, at camp as hungry young bear cubs, the bacon running low, and a couple of successive "bad days" of fishing have discouraged the party—there hope is still of greasing the larder especially if one knows how to go about it and still have some sport.

Now that old, weathered bait tosser will usually grunt and throw up his hands and give you the "once over" to see if you're all there when you mention still fishing, as this sort of wasteful waiting doesn't appeal to him one bit. However, it means food and undoubtedly plenty of it, for the little "pannie" is a generous old scout and generally comes to the rescue.

A long, limber flyrod about ten to twelve feet in length will set one right for this little stunt. A line of the common, ordinary trout silk, a few "wrigglers" or a few trout flies are the necessities.

Bluegills, sunfish, crappies, perch or any of the smaller pan fish will give you a useful word or two with this outfit because the pole is whippy enough so "pannie" can bend it to the limit and make all the dives, runs, etc., that the bigger brothers participate in when hooked.

A friend of mine who does considerable angling always carries his fly rod as side partner of his casting rod and when he has two or three nice bass or pike he usually starts opening that flyrod case with this expression: "Guess I've got enough for a meal, that's all I care for and now give you a useful word or two about the real sport." And he usually has it too. I have seen him land bass after bass with that fly rod after his "meal" was hanging beside the boat and put "bass after bass" back into the water in order to keep the lake in its usual good fishing, and occasionally he would land some large perch. If every angler would pursue this policy the fishing would increase in all streams, so there wouldn't be any empty stringers.

INDUSTRIAL LOOP LEADERS MEET TO DECIDE ON FUTURE

Three Remaining Teams May Vote to Split If Fourth Club Can't Be Found

Industrial Baseball league managers will meet in the Appleton Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock Thursday night to decide what is to be the fate of the loop. Three teams have been carrying on a desperate fight to uphold their organization this season, but have been unable to find a fourth, wherefor it is probable that the circuit will break up. The member teams are the Fox River Paper Co., the Appleton Coated Paper Co., and Kotex of Neenah.

At the beginning of the season, several teams which had been in the loop last year objected to the entrance of Kimberly-Clark and Combined Locks, on the grounds that the players used by these clubs were far above the standard of the rest of the teams, several of them being regulars of the Appleton State league club. It was decided to bar these clubs, and later it was impossible to find teams to replace them. Thilmann and Tuttle Press also dropped out a little later, and the Island Paper Co. of Neenah refused to enter a team.

If another club is found willing to complete a four-team circuit, the league will carry on even at this late day.

PAIRS EVEN COUNT WITH MADISON TEAM

Menasha—In the second of a two game series, Menasha beat Madison here Wednesday in a sensational game by a score of 3 to 1. Madison won Tuesday's game by a score of 12 to 5. With Rush, for Menasha, pitching in great form and backed by superb fielding, the result was different Wednesday, and Madison lost its first game this year to a Wisconsin team. Leopold and Rush hit home runs. Wurtz's fielding and Worden's sensational running catch were features.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Kaukauna has dropped out of the Wisconsin State league, leaving Neenah-Menasha, Sheboygan, Green Bay, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and Appleton to carry on for the rest of the season. The slate has been wiped clean for the new start which is scheduled for Sunday, and with the exception of Oshkosh, which appears to be having trouble because of inability to pay its players, the clubs look for steady going.

According to reports from Kaukauna George Stormy, Kromer has entered his young hopefuls in the C. and M. league after his departure from the McGilligan loop. The headquarters of this circuit are in Chilton and include some of the larger cities in that vicinity. Stormy expects to meet easy going in the new organization, and will cultivate his home talent in peace if his plans pan out.

Lawrence college has lost an experienced football mentor in Howard "Cub" Buck, who resigned that post in order to retain his place with the Green Bay Packers. No new coach has been decided upon as yet by the college officials, but the name of Mark Catlin frequently is mentioned in football circles. There is nothing to substantiate this rumor but Catlin has had extensive experience in the game and several years ago directed the efforts of the Lawrence squads with great success.

The Post-Crescent Printers recently bumped into a set of huskies who set them down in an indoor baseball game further first defeat of the season. The Sixth Ward Homebrewers did the trick after the Inklingers had them going, 2 to 1, in the first few innings. Stage fright appeared to be the chief trouble of the losers and they intend to show their ability and to redeem themselves in a return contest in the near future.

NEHF LEADS SOUTHPAWS AFTER LAST YEAR'S SLUMP

Art Nehf of the New York Giants after his explosion in the world series with the Yankees, was regarded by some of the critics as ranking as the chief trouble of the losers and they intend to show their ability and to redeem themselves in a return contest in the near future.

JOHNSON, VANCE PROVE FAST BALL EFFECTIVE

That a fast-ball pitcher can still be a big winner, despite the lively ball is proved by the success that Walter Johnson of Washington and Dazzy Vance of Brooklyn are having. They are both speed-ball kings of the majors.

Flying Fall

One of the biggest thrills in wrestling is the flying fall, where a wrestler shoots through space, gets the desired hold and flings his opponent to the mat, shoulders downward, all in one movement. This unusual action picture shows two English wrestlers executing the maneuver in spectacular manner.

Oshkosh State League Club Faces Disruption

"Bull" Durham, manager of the Oshkosh State league baseball club seems to be having plenty of trouble with his outfit, and it begins to look as though his team will follow Kaukauna in dropping out of the loop. Financial troubles are at the bottom of his difficulty, according to reports from Oshkosh, and many of his players are deserting him because the eagle has failed to scream regularly. One of the Oshkosh sport writers has summed up the situation as follows:

"Is Oshkosh to continue to have a team in the Wisconsin State Baseball league?"

"Is the present club to be reorganized and place on a new basis?"

"Will it drop out altogether, or will the present organization essay to 'hobble along on three legs,' so to speak?"

"These are questions that the baseball lovers of Oshkosh are asking these days, and these are questions that apparently are pressing for answer, since it would appear to a 'man up a tree' that the patient is certainly 'enjoying bad health' and that only by means of a stiff regimen, or by an operation of major importance, can life be prolonged much longer—that is, the life that would amount to anything."

PLAYERS ARE QUITTING
"Five out of town ballplayers, who have been playing all season with the Oshkosh State league" team, handed in their resignation to Manager Durham, one player left Tuesday morning and the others will leave this week. These five men have from $125 to $305 apiece coming to them for services.

"Several of the players, also intimate displeasure at an alleged lack of accurate information as to the administration of the financial affairs of the club."

ONE SUGGESTION MADE
"Some local fans have voiced the suggestion that the Ihrig Electric Washer company take over the team, rehired some of the best players and continue in the league."

It is stated that Mr. E. W. Ihrig, who is supporting the team that bears the name of his company, has promised to give the proposition consideration, but that certain contingencies exist which, unless straightened out, would make such action inadvisable.

APPEAL TO KLUWIN

"It is intimated also that effort will be made to interest Artie John P. Kluwin, former president of the Wisconsin state league, former professional ballplayer and always baseball enthusiast, in an attempt to unravel the local situation and substitute or derly, successful and administration for the current chaotic state of affairs. Mr. Kluwin's energy and acumen are so characteristic that it is regarded as foregone that, if he could be prevailed upon to take hold better baseball times would be the result."

THE MANAGER'S VIEW

"When the matter of the players leaving and other evidences of demoralization were brought to the attention of 'Bull' Durham, the Oshkosh manager, he said:

"The team will continue to play."

"Some of the players may be leaving because the club has not the money to pay their salaries, but if that happens, I will be able to get a less expensive team."

MANAWA RETAINS LEAD IN COUNTY BASEBALL LEAGUE

Bear Creek and Zachow Fail to Break Tie for Second Place Sunday

HOW THEY STAND
	W. L.	Pct.
Manawa	5	1 .833
Bear Creek	4	2 .667
Zachow	4	2 .667
Embaruss	3	3 .500
Galesburg	1	5 .167
Black Creek	1	5 .167

SUNDAY'S RESULTS
Manawa 9, Bear Creek 2.
Zachow 4, Embaruss 3.
Bear Creek 4, Galesburg 2.

Sunday's Intercountry league games brought forth better baseball than had been seen in the loop previously. With the exception of Manawa's 9 to 4 defeat of Black Creek the contests were close and exciting and results were in doubt up to the finish. Manawa easily kept its hold on first place, and Bear Creek and Zachow remain tied for second. These two clubs defeated Galesburg and Embaruss respectively by identical scores, 4 to 2. Black Creek and Galesburg still are in the cellar.

After a victory two weeks ago, Galesburg invaded Bear Creek determined to make it two in a row Sunday. With the aid of Newman, a new pitcher, the invaders nearly succeeded, but a flock of errors spoiled his efforts early in the game and gave the winners a slight lead at the start.

At the end of the second stanza the score stood 2 to 1 with Bear Creek leading, and during the next five innings neither team was able to score. In the seventh Bear Creek scored on a two-bagger, a sacrifice and a single. Galesburg again tried a comeback in the ninth and threatened to overtake the leaders, who were forced to work to the limit in order to stop them.

Neither pitcher allowed a base on balls, and each was hit seven times. Newman whiffed eleven men to eight for McClone.

The score by innings:
Galesburg 0 1 0 0 0 0 0 1—2
Bear Creek 3 0 0 0 0 1 0—4

YOUR UNCLE SAM

YOUR Uncle Sam is still the great-granddaddy of 'em all in the plain and fancy sports convention.

Mrs. Europe and her mob of muscle growers have been trying to make a crepe sandwich out of the old boy in the Olympics ever since the Mayflower set a new nonstop drifting record.

But they never get any closer than whispering distance, and trying to whisper to a guy who is used to bass harmony is all foolish and a laugh wide.

They may take the javelin annoyance, the steeplechase and the ear-wiggling regatta from him but that's because he isn't interested in parlor games and other phases of national imbecility.

True, losing the 100-meter dash to Mr. Abrahams, the Jewish boy, was unexpected. Mr. Abrahams was expected, it seems, but not so soon.

In the 200-meters your uncle led a stylish Paddock and trumped him with an orate Sholz. Your uncle is only snuffer in coral who can frighten something higher than ace out of deck.

Europe can't save handsome difference between your uncle as statesman and athlete. As statesman, Europe can take him for everything, including a choice boob, but as athlete he performs like bright young fellow with all his marbles.

Your uncle leaped so far in winning broad jump that mothers in neighboring villages brought their children out to see strange two-legged dirgible touching all bases in the skies.

Your uncle made clean sweep in burly shotput. Winning ball cleared French boundary and hit Kaiser's long-beaked son in seat of hand-patched knickers, starting him off on another "ordure retreat to previously prepared position."

Senators And Tigers Creep Up On Yankees When Cleveland Wins

Shaute's Strategy Is Principal Factor in Champions' Defeat When He Walks Ruth to Get at Meusel.

First place in the American League race threatens to slip through the New York Yanks' buttery fingers Thursday. In consequence of the conspiracy of Tigerish brute force, Indian willness and Senatorial diplomacy, the world champions hold a precarious lead over Washington by only half a game and over Detroit by a game and a half, as a result of their defeat by Cleveland, the double win of Cobb's followers over Boston, and Washington's judicious lay off. Through their victory and the Red Sox' twofold loss, Speaker's tribe took undisputed possession of sixth place and is only one game behind the fifth position Browns.

The principal factor in the Yanks' downfall by a 4 to 3 score was Shaute who displayed more stuff than four of Huggins' boxmen. Meusel was the net goat of the Indians' hurler. Shaute passed Ruth three times to get a chance at the New York left fielder and vindicated his strategy in each instance. While Manager Cobb failed to connect with the apple in six official trips to the plate, his employees made up the deficiency and pounded out two victories over Boston by scores of 5 to 4 and 11 to 3. Blue was ejected from the second game for objecting to being called out by Umpire Owens for interference.

Philadelphia advanced two games from the cellar of Ban Johnson's circuit by trimming Chicago twice, while the seventh place Red Sox dropped a double bill to Detroit.

The Philadelphia-Chicago scores were 8 to 0 and 6 to 5. The Giants met stiffer opposition in Pittsburgh than in Chicago but continued their winning streak by annexing an 8 to 7 win. Kelly hit his daily homer, his seventh in six days.

Brooklyn advances to third place, five points ahead of Pittsburgh and one game behind Chicago, by dividing honors with Cincinnati in a double header.

The Robins won first, 5 to 4, and the Reds copped the second, 9 to 6.

When a last stand rally fell one run short Chicago lost to Philadelphia, 3 to 2.

St. Louis used its well known hitting ability to good advantage in a double victory over Boston, 7 to 4 and 11 to 3.

HALE IS ON MARKET AS MACK FAVORS RICONDA

Connie Mack has about decided that Riconda is the best of his third base material. This means, that in all probability, Sammy Hale, who cost Mack plenty of money, will be used for trading material. Mack is said to value Hale at $20,000, a lot of money for a player who has twice failed to make the grade in the majors.

LIONS BATTLE SIXTH WARD HOMEBREWERS

Sixth Ward Homebrewers Thursday afternoon will battle the Lions of the Lark Twilight Baseball league on the Sixth ward grounds. The Scottlaws have been in the field but a short time this year as a team, but most of their men are members of industrial teams and as such have the edge on the Larks. The team has almost the same lineup as the American Legion club of last year.

The contest was scheduled to start at 6:30 P. M.

HOMES IN RUINED FRANCE WON BACK BY DOGGED EFFORT

End Of Year Estimated As Limit Required For Complete Restoration

By Associated Press
Paris—Of Devastated France, it may be said today that, due in no small measure to the dogged fortitude and tenacity of its returned inhabitants, the area has safely passed the crisis in its recovery from the wounds suffered through more than four years of systematic destruction.

According to estimates of various reconstruction agencies the end of next year, if all goes well, should see this vast score in the side of France practically healed with the exception, of course, of some of the cathedrals and other historic monuments which never can be replaced.

A general idea of how the work is progressing may be had from the fact that 553,977 of the 741,993 dwelling houses which were crumbled by cannon have now been completely restored. Other forms of reconstruction are going forward, and in less than five years after the greatest military struggle the world has ever seen, more than 4,000,000 of the 5,000,000 terror-stricken people who fled from the German invader are back on the soil they love and are beginning to catch a glimpse of normal, undisturbed contentment. While the world talks of reparations and the political aspects of the occupation of the Ruhr, these weather-hardened refugees are plugging away from sun to sun to restore their cottages and replant their gardens.

This is their one object. True to the temperament of the average provincial Frenchman, these repatriated men and women want only the opportunity of remaking homes for themselves; places where they will no longer be patronized as refugees; places where they may till the soil and enjoy its fruits. They waste no time discussing the Ruhr, and are willing to leave such things to their political leaders if only they themselves may be left unhampered in their efforts to prosper the land which once formed such a fertile part of France.

A correspondent of The Associated Press who has made a tour of the devastated regions comes away with the outstanding conviction that, of all the elements entering into the work of reconstruction, the greatest factor of all has been and still is the sheer will on the part of the people to restore.

Although there are still many vivid signs of war, the contrast between the wartime aspect of the countryside and that of reconstruction is startling. There are great stretches of rolling, sun-kissed fields still so full of lead and steel and yawning shell holes that cultivation so far has been impossible; but there are even greater stretches which have responded to the plow and are now carpeted with a fuzzy green.

There are miles of verdant spring grain. There are miles of verdant spring grain. There are miles of verdant spring grain. There are miles of verdant spring grain.

Everywhere everybody is at work. Adolescent strplings, who were mere children when the great exodus occurred and who are yet too young to do the heavy work of building, are following ox-drawn harrows over the fields, while their sturdy, horn-handled fathers are lifting heavy beams and stones into place while their wrinkled but wiry mothers are washing clothes, cooking meals and doing other household duties.

This metamorphosis from desolation to reconstruction is particularly noticeable in cities and towns that were most completely destroyed. Montdidier, for example, the most terrific bombardment of the war, looks almost like a new city. Chauny also, the little village in the Somme which completely disappeared, has been almost entirely restored. The large chemical factory there—one of the 22,800 that were wiped out—is again humming with business and is much more modern and better equipped than the old one. More than 15,000 new houses have been completed. Practically everything in the village has been restored, except the church. This is true almost everywhere; the church apparently is the last thing to be rebuilt. Absolute necessities must come first.

Rheims, Soissons, Lille and other cities of that type are making progress, but their destruction was so colossal and the amount of debris to be removed was so much greater that restoration necessarily must be slow.

WAR MADE HIM FAT, HE SAYS!

The war made him fat. So John W. Calhoun of Toronto, Ont., thinks he is entitled to more pension. A wound in the head, received while serving overseas with the Canadian forces, has caused his weight to jump from 192 to 440 pounds. John says. And medical treatment and Turkish baths, he declares, have failed to make him any thinner. Some idea of his size can be gained from this picture, showing how dwarf-like these two youngsters appear alongside him.

DELVERS UNCOVER POPULAR BUILDING SITE OF ANCIENTS

Excavations of Pennsylvania Museum Expedition Makes Revelations

Philadelphia — A cross section of history from the flint age to the Crusades, has been revealed by excavations conducted by the University of Pennsylvania Museum's expedition in Palestine, according to Dr. Clarence S. Fisher, leader of the enterprise, who returned recently to this city.

Excavations were made, Dr. Fisher reported, on a steep hill in Beth-Shean, where the inhabitants built their fortresses in various ages. "The top layer of ruins are those of a fortress begun by the Crusaders in the eleventh century," Dr. Fisher said. "Just below are the ruins of an Arab town of about 632 A. D., and beneath the town the remains of a magnificent circular Byzantine church of about the sixth century."

"Two other buildings were found beneath the Byzantine church. The upper one was a square church with beautiful mosaic floors from which the Byzantine builders took marble to build the structure above."

Beneath the same church was a Roman temple with magnificent masonry. It had apparently been dedicated to Bacchus, the god of wine. Dr. Fisher said below the Roman temple were found ruins built, he believes, by the Scythians who invaded the Holy Land on their way to Egypt before 150 B. C. Below the ruins a fifty foot shaft was sunk, he added, and layers of civilization dating back to the flint period were encountered. In Egypt near the Valley of the Kings, where Howard Carter is uncovering the tomb of Tutankhamun, Dr. Fisher said the tomb of the commander-in-chief of the army of Sesostris, who set his soldiers as masters over the Israelites, has been found. The tombs of 35 nobles have thus far been located, Dr. Fisher said.

FREEHOFF RETIRES FOR STATE FIGHT

Jamesville — William A. Freehoff, member of the assembly from the First District of Waushara county, for eight years, and who announced himself as a candidate for the Republican nomination to congress in the First District, withdrew from the race Thursday in a statement sent to each county.

"I have decided not to present my candidacy at this time but to permit a clear cut decision between the two factors of the Republican party," he says, and after adding that at some future time he may make the race, he closed with this: "I will actively support the candidacy of Charles H. Menzies of Keshish."

This leaves the field to Henry Allen, present congressman, and Charles H. Menzies, nominated by a conference of Republicans held at Ellettsville in May.

A strange man who grasped her by the arm, she told police, was escorted by Miss Betsinger, who works in a beauty shop, as she walked along the corridor, by investigation.

NEW RAILROAD OPENS BOLIVIA

By Associated Press

Buenos Aires—Railroad access to rich territory in southern Bolivia has been made effective by the opening of a stretch of new line connecting the Bolivian town of Tupiza with the Argentine state railroad system at the border town of LaQuila. Bolivian products of this region, including petroleum and various minerals, can now be transported by rail to Buenos Aires or to ports on the Parana river.

Within another year this line will have been extended northward to Atucha where it will connect with existing rail line to La Paz, the Bolivian capital, and provide a new outlet for the foreign commerce of the entire country, which now has to go by the Pacific ports of Arica and Antofagasta in Chile, and Mollendo in Peru. It will also make it possible to travel from Buenos Aires to Lima, Peru, by rail, except for the boat trip across Lake Titicaca, and will complete another link in the projected Pan American rail route from Buenos Aires to New York.

KUCKUK CHANGES MIND; CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATE

Shawano Man Prevailed Upon to Throw His Hat Into Political Ring

Antone Kuckuk, Shawano, state senator representing the Fourteenth district for two terms, Wednesday night announced he would be a candidate for reelection this year. The announcement was made at a meeting of Republican leaders of the district here. About a dozen men from Outagamie and a half dozen from Shawano attended the conference.

Mr. Kuckuk said at the close of the last legislative session that he would not seek reelection to office and friends of the senator said he had reiterated that statement several times, but the large number of letters urging him to reconsider his stand finally forced a change in his plans.

Mr. Kuckuk was one of the leaders in the senate and headed several important committees. His principal work was in education.

An organized campaign to insure the nomination of Mr. Kuckuk on the Republican ticket and his subsequent election will be started at once. He will be opposed for the nomination by John Englund of Wittenberg, endorsed by the Farmer-Labor league of Shawano and Outagamie counties.

Make Marriages Difficult And Divorces Easy, Judge's Remedy

(READERS: Judge T. O. Hathcock, of Atlanta's Municipal Court, is said to have performed more marriages than any other man in Georgia. Here he sets forth his views on the marriage problem that confronts every state and city. DO YOU agree with him? If not, what is your solution?) BY JUDGE T. O. HATHCOCK, Judge of the Municipal Court of Atlanta

ATLANTA, Ga.—I think marriages should be made more difficult, so that divorces can be easier obtained when they are necessary, and I do not think I am a bit radical about my viewpoint.

At present our divorce courts are crowded with hundreds of cases that are there because marriage was so easy, and afterwards finding themselves ill-mated it is difficult for unhappy men and women to get free of each other.

Divorce is a splendid thing when two people find they cannot live together.

It is my belief that a union should be dissolved if it is clearly demonstrated that the man and woman never were suited for each other. I do not mean that I favor promiscuous divorces, because I don't.

I believe that if the marriage laws were strengthened and it were much harder to get married than it is today, the divorce courts would find time hanging on their hands with nothing to do.

Publication of marriage banns for at least 30 days prior to the marriage in newspapers and posting of the banns in the courthouses of the county, just like they do in Europe, would be one means of safeguarding marriages. It would absolutely stop hasty marriages and elopements—the greater majority of which end in the divorce court.

Then there should be a penalty attached to false swearing as to age, physical condition, etc., in the application for marriage license, and the father, mother or legal guardian of the bride should be required to swear that the statements made in the application are true.

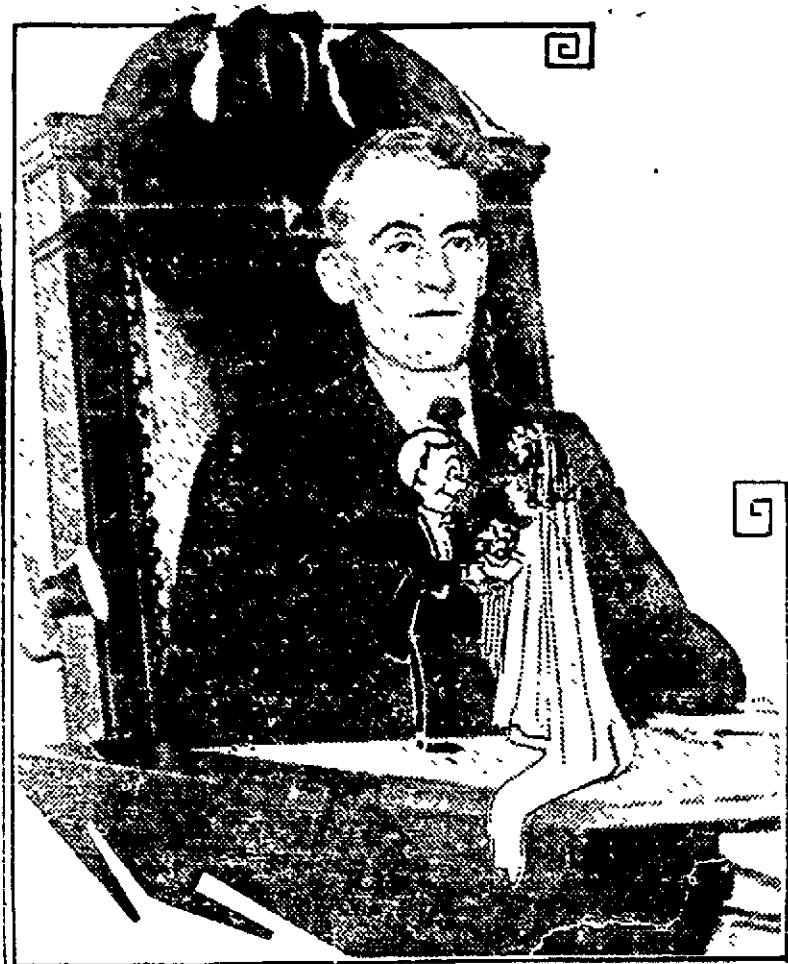

As it is now, statements about age can be made falsely and nothing can be done about it, because there is no penalty for false swearing.

A certificate of sound health, specifying that there is no physical or mental reason why the party should not be married should be presented by both parties from a reputable physician who has made a thorough examination of both before the license should be granted.

Uniform marriage laws throughout the country, as well as uniform divorce laws, some day will be placed on the statute books, and when they are marriage will be much harder and divorce much easier.

Until that time, however, I think that the states themselves should look into the matter of ending so many hundreds of divorces each year. This can only be accomplished by making the marriage laws more stringent.

People who consider marriage some time before they actually take the step are pretty nearly certain to "stick it out," but those that "just get married" on the spur of the moment are keeping our divorce courts crowded, and it should be cleared up now.

JUDGE T. O. HATHCOCK

HEIR TO CHINESE THRONE IS GRANTED RESPITE IN EXILE

Youthful Hsuan Tung Granted Leave from Peking for First Time

Peking.—For the first time since he became a virtual prisoner within the walls of the Forbidden City 12 years ago, when he was forced to abdicate the throne of China, the youthful Hsuan Tung has been permitted to venture outside of Peking. He recently motored to the historic Summer Palace, relic of the folly of the erstwhile empress dowager and the scene of many extravagant court functions marking the days immediately preceding the downfall of the Manchus.

With his bride of something more than a year, the heir apparent spent hours wandering among the ruins, crossed the miniature lake upon which the palace faces, and returned to Peking by the way of the Jade Fountain, another familiar outlying place of interest to foreigners in China and upon which the young monarch gazed for the first time.

The Summer Palace, which but for the revolutionary outbreak of 1911 and the establishment of the republic, might today have been Hsuan Tung's summer residence, was built by the empress dowager with funds diverted from the purpose for which they were designated, the building of a navy. Fifteen million taels, representing at that time approximately $10,000,000, were squandered there. As though in a spirit of derision, one of the features of the palace is a representation of a small pleasure craft, built of marble and with its foundations set securely in the water on the edge of the small lake, to serve as a tea-house.

Hsuan Tung was accompanied on his outing by various members of the "imperial" household and three daughters of a former regent, Prince Chun.

BADGER CONGRESSMAN BETTING ON LA FOLLETTE

—Sheboygan—Congressman Edward Voigt of this district is betting his money on the election of Senator Robert M. La Follette as the next president, he stated in an interview here.

"With the Democratic nomination of Davis," he declared, "the victory of La Follette in the coming campaign is assured. The worst Davis can do is to carry 10 states and throw the election into the house of representatives. In case the selection of a president does go to the house, a deadlock is very likely to occur, and the outcome is doubtful.

"The choice of Charles Bryan of Nebraska seems to have been an attempt to reconcile William Jennings Bryan and the element which adheres to the great commener."
